Newton Plans Gala Celebration

Boys' Club Head Honored

August E. Mascaro, former executive director of the Newton Boys' Club, was guest of honor at a dinner party given by club directors at the Simpson House on Friday night, June 21, upon the occasion of his resignation to accept a new post in New Rochelle, N. Y. He will be succeeded in the Newton Club by Sam Crocetti. During the evening Mr. Mascaro was presented a framed citation of appreciation by Newton Boys' Club president Jerry R. Angino, who expressed the board's regret in accepting the veteran director's resignation. He also called attention to the many contributions made by Mr. Mascaro to the recent growth of the club and the variety of character-building programs for youngsters he had instituted throughout the city.

In addition, Mr. Mascaro was presented a brown leather suitcase by Richard White on behalf of the board of directors, who especially commended him on his years of service to the club.

Following the dinner, the group adjourned to the Boys' Club at Dalby street, where many of Mr. Mascaro's friends and acquaintances gathered to wish him well at his new duties in New Rochelle.

Firefighters On Inspection Rescue Baby In Bathroom

A worried Newton mother, whose baby had been accidentally locked in the bathroom, after working feverishly but unsuccessfully to open the door, started for the telephone to seek the assistance of Newton's firefighters. As she picked up the phone, her front doorbell rang. With an exclamation over an interruption at such a time she hurried to open the door.

Standing in the doorway smiling, his cap in his hand, was a Newton firefighter.

"How did you know I wanted you?" the woman demanded excitedly.

Watch Out!

A word to the wise motorists over the July Fourth holiday —

Watch out! All Registry of Motor Vehicle Inspectors are on duty, the full force of the State Police will be on the highways. Every policeman in the departments throughout the state will be on the job.

They're looking for speeders. They're after the motorists who cuts out of line. What they are actually out to do is SAVE LIVES. Watch your driving!!

The firefighter started to explain that he was going from house to house as part of the fire department's inspection, but the woman broke in to tell him of her predicament and the plight of her baby, adding that she had been just about to call for headquarters.

A ladder was quickly hoisted to the bath room window. A firefighter climbed in, opened the door and handed a sobbing baby to the mother.

Whether Newton and the other cities and towns in Massachusetts will receive a third installment from the State during 1957 will depend on the tax collections in the months ahead.

A spokesman for the State Department of Taxation said yesterday it is possible they may get a financial windfall near the end of the year.

Furcolo May Create Record For Major Defeats in Term

Governor Foster Furcolo, who declares that the only way he knows to fight is to stay in the ring and keep punching until the last bell rings, is likely to wind up as the Joe Grin of Beacon Hill if his administration continues its present course of decisive setbacks.

The Governor, with six months in office now behind him, can't point to a single victorious achievement. He has lost all the decisions. He hasn't stacked up a single winning point.

This may pose a serious problem for the Republicans because if Furcolo keeps being defeated, it might cause a wave of sympathy for him among the voters the same way a prize-fight crowd roots for a boxer who is knocked down half a dozen times and keeps getting up.

It would be ironic if Furcolo keeps getting himself knocked down so often, figuratively speaking, that he were to build up a sympathy vote for himself. That certainly could happen.

Furcolo apparently picks his spots on when he will stay in the ring and keep punching until the final bell and when he will run away and wait to fight another day.

Two Big Fireworks Displays To Be Staged Holiday Night

Two spectacular fireworks displays and a wide variety of festivities for children will feature Newton's colorful Fourth of July celebration.

The thrilling fireworks shows, climaxing the Independence Day programs, will be held on the holiday evening at 9 p.m. at the Newton Centre Playground and about 9:30 p.m. at the Newton Upper Falls Playground.

Thousands of grownups and children are expected to gather at the two playgrounds to watch the bombs and rockets etching their fiery patterns against the black backdrop of the summer sky.

Separate Fourth of July observances are to be held under the sponsorship of the Newton Centre Improvement Association and the Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association.

Under the direction of William J. Axt, Jr., president of the Newton Centre Improvement Association, an attractive program of games, races, special children's activities and swimming events has been arranged.

The program will get underway at 9 o'clock on the holiday morning with a bicycle parade starting at the Mason School. Entries in the parade will ride to the Newton Centre Playground where they will be judged and prizes awarded to the three winners.

The raising of the colors, a salute to the Flag and the singing of the national anthem will open the festivities at the playground.

A doll carriage parade and handicraft exhibit of work done by children will follow the patriotic exercises.

One of the colorful events of the holiday morning will be a pet show for all kinds of animals except dogs and horses. The reason dogs are excluded from that competition is that

Newton Gets $686,342.48 As Tax Share from State

Payment of $686,342.48 to the City of Newton as its share in the latest distribution of State income and corporation taxes, has been authorized by State Tax Commissioner Joseph P. Healey, Jr. It represented the second installment on the money Newton will receive this year from the Commonwealth.

Whether Newton and the other cities and towns in Massachusetts will receive a third installment from the State during 1957 will depend on the tax collections in the months ahead.

A spokesman for the State Department of Taxation said yesterday it is possible they may get a financial windfall near the end of the year.

Spare Tire On Life Buoy Now Adopted Nationwide

A safety idea, originally advanced in this area and enthusiastically backed by Chief Philip Purcell and his Newton police safety officers for preventing drownings, has been adopted by the Chiefs of Police Association of Tampa, Fla.

Chief Purcell and his safety officers became effective propagandists for the idea a year or two ago. They proved to themselves and the members of other police departments that a spare tire in the back of an automobile could prove an unmatched factor for saving persons from drowning.

It was a simple idea. Rolled, carried or slid into the water from an automobile, the tire could be the means for keeping a victim or victims afloat until rescue is effected. Tests showed a tire could be removed from a car trunk in less than 60 seconds under average conditions.

An inflated tire, even mounted on a steel rim, it was found,

Caddy In Close Call With Death Now Recovering

A 15-year-old Newton boy, who had a close brush with death when he was struck by lightning while caddying at the Charles River Country Club, was reported today as making a full recovery and on his way back to normal health.

But James Rooney of 290 Parker street, Newton Centre, owes the fact that he is still alive to the skill and quick work of Dr. Albert S. Murphy of Chestnut Hill, noted surgeon and a political figure in Boston for many years back.

Young Rooney from all indications was dead when Dr. Murphy, one of the golfers for whom he was caddying, brought him back to life by striking two sharp blows over his chest.

Auto Stolen From Driveway

A warning to Newton residents to lock their automobiles even if they leave them in their own driveways, was issued today by Police Chief Philip Purcell after Ethel Abbott of 1572 Commonwealth ave. reported to police that her car had been stolen from the driveway of her home.

It was a simple idea. Rolled, carried or slid into the water from an automobile, the tire could be the means for keeping a victim or victims afloat until rescue is effected. Tests showed a tire could be removed from a car trunk in less than 60 seconds under average conditions.

B. U. Women's Organization Honors Newton Hi Teachers

A Spring Program and Tea, sponsored by the newly formed Boston University Women's Organization, was held recently at the Clafin Elementary School in Newtonville in honor of Newton High School administrators and teachers who are former students of Boston University.

During the program, Mrs. Robert F. Oxnam, wife of the administrative vice president of Boston University and co-chairman of the event, described the purpose of the new organization as designed to assemble the administrative and faculty women and wives with the aim of interpreting the University's educational opportunities to the community.

She said the organization in total comprises some 900 members from 120 Massachusetts communities in 21 districts, with four areas of the group in the Newtons.

Mrs. Oxnam and her co-chairman, Mrs. J. Wendell Yeo, also read a message from Dean Linwood Chase, of the B.U. School of Education, expressing appreciation for the contribution Newton High School teachers are making the community with their service. Nearly 50 percent of Newton High School teachers have attended the University, it was noted.

Speaker of the afternoon was Dean Robert Choate, of the University's School of Fine and Applied Arts, who traced the history of the School's program and explained the divisions of music, art and theatre.

During the afternoon, Harold Howe, II, new principal of Newton High School, was presented to the group.

Also heard was "Fine Arts Panorama," a program presented by students from the University's division of music. Selections of paintings by art students were arranged in an exhibit on the stage.

Selected For 6 Weeks Tour Of France

Miss Mary Deane Broderick, daughter of Mrs. Arthur C. Broderick of Cambridge, has been selected by the Republic of France as one of eight college seniors to receive a six-week, all-expense tour of France.

Miss Broderick's late father was associated with the Downes Lumber Co. in Newton.

The selection was based on a nation-wide essay contest, the subject of which was "Lafayette's contribution to the United States." The contest was sponsored by the French Embassy in connection with the bicentennial anniversary of the birth of the Revolutionary War hero.

Miss Broderick, who is a June graduate of St. Joseph's College in Emmitsburg, Md., wrote an essay (in French) entitled "Lafayette, Merci."

The winners depart for France on July 11. They will represent the United States in Lafayette festivals during their vacation.

Miss Broderick, who expects to teach French, was elected to the national French honor society, Pi Delta Phi.

Select Officers to Head Chorus

Eric Bergquist was elected president and Mrs. George A. Marsh, vice president, at the annual election of the Newton Community Chorus.

The election meeting was held at the home of Mrs. John C. Fisher. Other officers chosen for 1957-1958 included Thomas Barry, treasurer; Miss Helen T. Rockett, vice president; Honorary directors are Adelaide B. Ball and C. Evan Johnson.

Members of the board of directors include Mrs. Sanford L. Carter, Mrs. Norbert L. Fulling, Miss Joan F. Crocchia, Mrs. Amasa V. Jonah, George A. Melanson, Mrs. Horace J. McDonnell, Mrs. Gordon R. Miller, Roy G. Royster (past president); Miss Geraldine Seaver, George N. Stevens and Miss Vivian Wille.

The chorus during the coming year will be directed by James H. Remley, director of music for the Newton public schools, and Lasell Junior College. Mrs. John C. Fisher will continue as accompanist of the 70-member chorus.

Membership is open to all interested in good choral music and participation in the various concerts throughout the season.

Plans are under way for the programs to be presented at Christmas and in early May, 1958, at the annual spring concert.

Newton Man Gets State Realty Post

Bertram A. Drucker of Newton, retiring president of the Boston Real Estate Board, will be inaugurated president of the Massachusetts Real Estate Association, marking the first time that such an elevation has occurred.

A partner in a State St. real estate firm, Drucker makes his home at 54 Clements Rd. with his wife and son, Ronald, 13 and daughter, Nancy, 6. He is a graduate of the Cambridge School in Weston and Franklin & Marshall College, class of 38. He serves on the board of directors of Temple Emanuel in Newton.

Drucker is a treasurer of several real estate corporations and director of several hotels. He and his firm have extensive real estate holdings in eastern Massachusetts and in the South.

Get A.B. Degrees at Mt. Holyoke

Two Newton young women, both graduates of Newton High School, took their bachelor of arts degrees with special citations at Mount Holyoke College, at South Hadley, commencement exercises Sunday afternoon, June 2.

They are Miss Eleanor Coogan of Newton Center, who took her degree with distinction in general studies, and Miss Carolyn Jones, of Newtonville, who received her degree with honor in economics and sociology.

Miss Coogan, who recently was awarded a Joseph A. Skinner fellowship for graduate study in art at Radcliffe College, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Coogan of 219 Homer street, Newton Centre. An art major at Mount Holyoke, she spent her junior year abroad studying with the Sweet Briar group in Paris.

An economics major, Miss Jones did her honors work on "The Effect of Consumer Credit on Economic Fluctuations." She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Jones of 145 Kirkstall road, Newtonville. She has been national president of the Association of Synchronized Swimming for College Women this year.

Drive-In Corp. Appoints O'Day

Hal O'Day, a veteran exhibitor who has worked in theatres throughout New England and the Los Angeles area, has been named district manager of the Northeast Drive-In Theatre Corp., according to Michael Redstone, president.

O'Day, a resident of Revere, served six years in the Navy, and is a graduate of Revere High school and attended University of Illinois.

His new duties will include supervision of the Nepot, Dedham, Revere, VFW Party theatres and the new Sunbelt Downs Drive-In Theatre in East Boston.

Chamber Urging Retail Council

Organization of a Retail Trade Council within the Newton Chamber of Commerce to promote retailing as a force in the city's business life, is well underway, according to the bulletin of the Chamber of Commerce here.

The Bulletin announced that in Newton Corner, Nonantum, West Newton and Newton Centre Chamber members, both new and old, are pushing for the formation of an active Chamber Retail Trade Council. Similar activity has started this month in Newtonville, the Upper and Lower Falls, Auburndale, Chestnut Hill and Waban.

Degrees from Cornell for Three Newton Boys

Three Newton boys were among the graduates awarded degrees at the commencement exercises of Cornell University at Ithaca, N.Y.

They were Donald Borkum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel A. Borkum of 55 Crosby road; Ronald E. Kramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max J. Kramer of 79 Concolor avenue, and Marvin L. Kaplan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kaplan of 51 Pratt drive, West Newton.

Gets Degree from Manhattanville

Miss Faith Gallagher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Gallagher of 117 Fuller street, West Newton, was one of the Greater Boston girls who received a degree at the annual commencement exercises of Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart at Purchase, N.Y. She prepared for Manhattanville at the Convent of the Sacred Heart School, Newton.

Fireworks-

week of the so-called in-service inspection of Newton's homes and business places.

Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., reports that his men on the whole have received excellent cooperation at the homes they have visited.

In a few instances they have been refused admittance and been turned away by occupants of single and two-family houses, whose premises cannot be inspected without their consent.

For the most part, however, the firefighters have been greeted in friendly, cheerful fashion and invited to go about their duties.

Swimming events will start at 2 p.m. at Crystal Lake.

President Axt declares that some misunderstanding has developed as to the starting time of the swimming events but that the correct time that the events begin at Crystal Lake is 2 p.m.

Competition at the lake will be divided into two age groups, one for children 10 to 13 years old, the other for youngsters 14 to 17. There will be separate races for boys and girls.

Races for children in the 10-13 year age bracket will include a 15-yard dog paddle and a 25-yard free style swim.

Events for the older boys and girls in the 14-17 year group will be a 25-yard free style, a 50-yard free style and a 25-yard back stroke race.

A baseball game will be played at the Newton Centre Play-ground at about 3:30.

So far the in-service inspection, in which the firefighters travel on their apparatus and are on constant call in case a blaze starts anywhere in the city, has proved highly satisfactory.

Chief Perkins believes that it will be instrumental in preventing damaging blazes which could take a heavy toll of both life and property.

Joshua Guberman
Is Candidate for School Comm.

Attorney Joshua A. Guberman of 853 Dedham street, Oak Hill, has announced his candidacy for school committeeeman from Ward 8.

A graduate of the Newton Schools, Harvard College and Harvard Law School, he has served as president of the Spaulding Nursery School, Inc., one of the first nursery schools associated with Newton public schools. A veteran of World War II, he served as a Signal Corps officer on General Eisenhower's staff.

Announcing his candidacy, Mr. Guberman said, "The development and improvement of our schools continue to be Newton's outstanding needs. The impact of the schools on the city's budget would itself justify that we give the school department our close attention.

"When, however, we also consider society's ever-increasing demand for educated men and women, it becomes imperative that each of us take an active interest in the way in which our schools discharge their obligations.

"It is our duty to have schools which will prepare all of our young people for the life into which they are emerging, and which will also enable the college candidates to meet the increasingly intense competition for admission. There must be a continuing re-examination of methods and results to insure that our goals are being met.

"As a father of three children, two of whom now attend the Spaulding School, I am well aware of the difficulties which have arisen from the rapid increase in Newton's school population and I appreciate what Newton has already done to meet these problems. But what has been accomplished is not enough. We must further develop our ability to hire and retain good teachers. The shortage of teachers requires that methods be found for fuller utilization of the special talents now available in the school system."

Games and races for boys and girls from 7 to 14 will be held from 2 to 4:30. They will include regular foot races and such trick events as a three-legged race, a potato sack race and shoe races.

Prizes will be awarded to the first three winners in each event in a ceremony scheduled to be held between 6 and 6:30 p.m.

Bon Munstedt, well known radio and television entertainer, will put on a show at the playground from 7 to 7:30 p.m.

Special movies, with comedies and cartoons for the small fry, will be shown from 8:30 to 9:30.

And at 9:30, or shortly thereafter, the first piece of fireworks will be touched off for the fireworks display that will bring to a close Newton's gala celebration of the nation's birthday.

Brody Awarded B.S.

David W. Brody of Newton was awarded a B.S. degree from the School of Business Administration of the University of Connecticut at graduation exercises last Sunday.

Chief Persons said that many serious automobile accidents have been caused by firecrackers being thrown at cars and drivers in a spirit of fun or jubilation.

"Most of these children were too small to realize the dangers they were playing with because their parents or an older person had given them the firecrackers or allowed them to have them. Their bodies will carry the scars of these experiences as long as they live," the fire chief continued.

"Large property losses occur annually due to fires starting in the storage or improper use of fireworks," Perkins stated.

"Fireworks of all kinds help to increase the fire and accident loss record at a tremendous rate especially when thrown into the air, or an open building, or the dry woods. Here are a few simple rules to remember when handling fireworks:

"Never allow small children to play with them by themselves at anytime.

"Keep the children a safe distance away from all areas where crackers are being discharged.

"Never throw firecrackers at anyone or anything.

"Store all fireworks away from heat and where there is not too much moisture," Chief Perkins advised.

Mayor Whitmore Given Praise for 'Group of Mayors' Plan

High tribute is paid to Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., of Newton in the current issue of "Greater Boston Business," official publication of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The tribute is contained in "The President's Report" of Ernest Henderson, outgoing president of the Chamber.

The recent organization of a group of Mayors at the suggestion of Mayor Whitmore of Newton, writes Mr. Henderson, promises to create more planning for the cities and towns of the Greater Boston area.

"The Chambers of Commerce of most of these cities and towns have set up a joint council for the purpose of furthering projects which will be helpful to this regional community.

"This is one of the most optimistic omens for the future of the city of Boston," Henderson declares.

The boy's heart had stopped beating. He had ceased breathing. He had no pulse. His pupils had dilated. His body appeared to be lifeless when Dr. Murphy administered the sharp slaps, a fairly new method of reviving a patient, which has worked in some cases and not in others, according to medical men.

Dr. Murphy gave Rooney artificial respiration until Newton firefighters and police arrived.

The youth subsequently was removed to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Police administered a tank of oxygen to the boy.

Rooney is a pupil at the Meadowbrook Junior High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Rooney. His father is a Boston taxicab driver. Robert Wallwork, 11, of Newton, also a caddy, was knocked down by the same bolt of lightning during the electrical storm which swept across Newton.

Dr. John P. Rattigan of New-

Our Flag

(The following editorial entitled, "Our Flag", which appeared in Trade Hi News, is so inspirational, so completely filled with American sentiment and so worth reading, that we are publishing it for our readers.)

Just as the cross is the symbol of the Christian religion and of our belief in immortality, so the flag is the emblem of our greatness and our glory. It stands for our independence, our freedom, our liberty, our unity, our tolerance, our material prosperity, our ideals, our dreams, and our aspirations.

We are the flag.

It is not the flag that floats above a people that makes a great nation; it is the people who make a flag great. You could cloak many millions today in the flags representing oppressed peoples and you would not have a "land of the free and the home of the brave." But assemble a few rugged souls as conquered the American wilderness, developed our farms, built our cities, tapped our mines, wrote and accepted our Constitution and Bill of Rights, stormed San Juan and the Hindenburg line, and you will have one of all time's nations.

The American flag is our national blue ribbon, signifying first place in the art of self government; it is our badge of distinction. It is the garland of all our victories and achievements. It is, in a world of despotism, the one bright and shining token of the dignity and immeasurable worth of the individual. It has become the star of hope of all oppressed peoples everywhere.

Our flag is everything that is America!

It is a crowd of school children singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and it is the town hall assembly of citizens discussing community problems.

It is a crowd of 100,000 gone wild at a football game; it is a vast multitude gathered reverently for Easter sunrise services.

It is the last half of the ninth inning in a World series baseball game, and the chant of the tobacco auctioneer in Kentucky.

If you are in the service of your country and you commit an error it is your right to trial by your own countryman.

All these blessings, and millions more, are connotative of the American flag. But neither singly nor collectively do they form the complete America of which Old Glory is the famed ensign. For our land is the meeting place of the world's bravest ideas and ideals. It has many bloodstreams, many peoples, and many customs, but through every group and everything blows the cool, clean air of freedom.

Make Sure You Come Back

Due to the work of such a man as Registrar Rudolph F. King, our police department—and above all to you, Mr. and Mrs. (and Miss) Average Driver—the State of Massachusetts ranks pretty close to the top each year when honors are passed out among "safe-driving" States.

We top all other States in the matter of low rates for pedestrian accidents. We've done that for nine years in a row. Every year Massachusetts is at or very close to the top in the matter of highway safety for all classifications of highway safety.

If you think that's a cause for knowing an inordinate amount of pride—you are wrong, very wrong.

In Massachusetts this week—possibly right here in our own community—automobiles will pull out of garages and never return. They'll wind up in junk shops or automobile graveyards.

And—what is far more important—some of their occupants won't come back either. Some will reach hospital beds. Some will have the designation "D.O.A." tagged on behind their names at the hospitals. "D.O.A." means "Dead on Arrival."

There aren't any new arguments for safe-driving. If you've read newspapers and magazines—if you have listened only casually to radios and TV—you've heard them all.

Perhaps, you have that subconscious feeling that they are always addressed to someone else. If you've never had an automobile accident, you probably feel that such accidents are something that only come into other people's lives.

The hard fact of the matter is that every one moving in a vehicle on today's highway—every one even crossing the highway on foot—might well prove to be the next fatality victim.

Death can follow awfully quickly when someone makes a tiny mistake on our roads today. The maker of that mistake may be you. It might be someone else.

The Fourth of July comes on Thursday this week. For a very large number of people it will be a four-day holiday.

The highways of the entire nation, the highways of Massachusetts, the highways of our own community will be carrying about the heaviest burden of traffic they've ever known.

Enjoy your holiday—every minute of it.

May it be the finest you've ever known.

But always remember a holiday—any holiday—only increases the responsibility you assume when you get behind the wheel of an automobile.

Don't risk the slightest deviation from the code of driver safety. It's always a mistake. It can be the last mistake you'll make in this life.

When the Tulsa City Lines lost its bus line franchise to another company in recent election, its angry president immediately used the operating time he had left to discourage business. His buses rolled over their routes displaying signs which read: "Why wait for a bus? Next time call a taxi."

Political Overtones

He didn't follow his self-avowed policy in the battle over the attempted ouster of two members of the State Milk Control Commission who had ruled against a client of his when he was practising law.

Instead of keeping punching until the last ball in that fight, the Governor retreated from the clash, bloody and bowed, after throwing in the towel in about the third or fourth round, if we may borrow from his pugilistic expressions.

Neither did he exactly fight it out toe to toe down to the finish in his losing budget battle. He backed out of that conflict when it became obvious he couldn't prevail. In the end he declared that the members of the House of Representatives had done what he wanted them to do, when they slashed his budget.

As this is written, Governor Furcolo is facing almost certain defeat on two major matters—the sales tax issue and the bill which would give him authority to appoint six additional judges to the Massachusetts Superior Court.

In the case of the sales tax measure, Furcolo certainly was the valiant warrior who kept punching until the last bell, who stood by his guns while all was crumbling around him, who made suicide charges against the enemy ramparts, who went down with the sinking ship, or whatever other simile he might wish to employ.

The way the professional politician would put it was that Furcolo threw everything he had into a sales tax fight that he couldn't possibly win.

If Furcolo even now by some means were able to manage to get his sales tax measure through the House of Representatives, it would be overwhelmingly rejected in the State Senate where the Governor could not muster more than a handful of Solons in support of it.

The blunt fact is that he would accomplish nothing if he were able to rescue the bill and pull it through the House. All he would be doing would be to set the stage for defeat in the Senate.

A strange aspect to the situation is that even though Governor Furcolo has not won a single major legislative victory in a period of a half a year—representing one fourth of his elected term of office—and has suffered a series of major and minor defeats, he gives no outward sign of being alarmed over the chain of setbacks he has sustained.

The explanation, presumably, is that Furcolo by nature is a poker-faced individual who does not betray his feelings and emotions. It is only common sense to assume that he is disturbed by the succession of defeats which have gone into the record for him. He certainly is shrewd enough to recognize their significance.

No Massachusetts Governor in modern times got away to as rocky a start during his first six months in office as has Foster Furcolo. Some of the veteran onlookers on Beacon Hill are comparing his administration to that of James M. Curley, while others are likening it to the regime of the late Charles F. Hurley.

The fact is that neither comparison is really accurate. Curley succeeded in most of the things he attempted during his first stormy six months in office. Furcolo has failed in most of the matters he has undertaken. Hurley's administration was a relatively quiet one until he was defeated for renomination in the primary.

One of the leading newspapers in central Massachusetts expressed the opinion a few days ago that Furcolo, after six months in office, is now fighting for his political life, the paper quoted members of the Legislature as voicing the belief that Furcolo will prove to be a one-term Governor.

How much Furcolo has been hurt politically by the record he has made since he took the oath of office on the first Thursday of last January is a question that is impossible to answer. He certainly has lost—at least temporarily—the support of some of the people who helped to make him Governor.

Most political experts doubt that Furcolo today could win reelection. That appraisal probably is an accurate one. The more important question, however, is whether he will be able to win reelection 16 months from today.

But there is no question that Furcolo's stock at this time is pretty low.

John P. Cochrane Asks Reelection to School Board

School Committeeman John P. Cochrane has announced his candidacy for reelection to Newton's School Board.

Cochrane, who lives at 14 Jameson road, is himself the father of two children in the Newton school system. His son, John, Jr., is entering the 8th grade at the Bigelow School, and his daughter, Betsy, is starting the 4th grade at the Underwood School.

He has been active in both PTA and community activities for a number of years, was president of the Underwood PTA, has been a leader in the Cub Scouts and recently completed two terms as chairman of troop 22 of the Boy Scouts.

Committeeman Cochrane has worked for a number of years on the Community Chest and for two years was Village Chairman. He has been a Vestryman of the Grace Episcopal Church, where he has been active in many committees and is a former chairman of its Christian Education Committee.

For more than two decades he has been a division manager of the Frigidaire Division of General Motors Corporation. During the war he served with the War Production Board in Washington, and during the reconversion period he was chief of the operations of the entire appliance industry.

In announcing that he will seek reelection, Cochrane said his first term on the School Committee has been a series of introductions to problems of a continuing nature in public education.

"The ever-rising tide of enrollment and its impact on the supply of teachers and administrators, as well as on school buildings and municipal budgets, are of great concern to educators, public administrators and legislators," Cochrane said.

Travel, Weddings, Studying To Mark Teachers Vacations

Marriage, motor trips, and more study lead the varied list of activities planned for the summer by Newton's elementary teachers who recently locked up the doors on the city's 26 grade schools.

The title of "top traveler" goes to Miss Esther L. Alpers, first grade teacher at the Oak Hill School, who will be leaving on her 14th trip to Europe. She plans to sail to England and spend most of her time this summer in that country and in France.

Two other Oak Hill teachers will be leaving the city to accompany their husbands to new positions. Mrs. Helen E. Boiselle plans to teach in South Bend, Ind., where her husband will study on a fellowship at Notre Dame. Mrs. Irene Rosenthal, whose husband is a public health doctor, will be going with him to a new post in Detroit.

July and August weddings are planned for the second and fifth grade teachers at the Franklin School in West Newton. Miss Shirley Ann Wax and Miss Sonya Krainin will both become brides during the summer, while Miss Toula A. Laganas will test out the temperatures in Florida for a few weeks.

Miss Anne B. Fahy, principal of the Countryside School, will again be codirector of the Reading Clinic at Tufts, and Miss Catherine A. Lodge and Miss Eileen A. MacElarney will be clinicians there. Mrs. Roberta Schneider, third grade teacher, will be a counselor for senior girls at Camp Keeah in New York state, and Miss Joanne McCarthy will be married early in July. Two first-grade teachers at Countryside expect to receive their master's degrees in education from Boston University in August. They are Mrs. Laura F. Lally and Miss Rita M. Cushing.

Volkswagen Safari

Twelve thousand miles is a Volkswagen is the aim of Richard W. Pratt, who has scheduled an extended tour of the national parks of the United States and Canada. The sixth grade teacher at Beethoven is making a study that may develop into a tourist guide for the National Park Service.

Also studying at B.U. will be two members of the Emerson School faculty, Miss Barbara Burwen of the fifth grade and Miss Helen B. McMullen. Raymond C. Cook, principal of the Emerson and Hamilton Schools, will conduct an arithmetic workshop for the Harvard-B.U. Extension Service in Shelburne Falls, Mass., for teachers in that vicinity.

Reading Expert

In anticipation of her new job as first-grade teacher, Mrs. Kathleen Lohnes, who has been kindergartner teacher at Hamilton, will be taking special courses at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. Mrs. Joan L. Johns, fifth grade teacher at Hamilton, will return to the Tufts Reading Clinic this summer, where she has been on the staff for several years.

The first grade at the Peirce School will be losing Mrs. Janet H. Hayes this summer, as she is leaving for Ohio with her husband, a newly-ordained minister.

Three staffers at the Stearns-Lincoln-Eliot Schools will have the same boss all summer they do all winter. Mrs. Jean J. Powers, Miss Elissa A. Capuzzi, and Mrs. Evelyn V. McCann will be counselors at the Fessenden Day Camp, which their principal, Herbert J. Callahan, will direct.

Douald Langlois, sixth grade teacher at the Lincoln-Eliot School, will be married this summer. He spends the hot months as a lifeguard at Salisbury Beach and recently was credited with saving the lives of four bathers.

To Work On PhD.

The principal of Memorial School, Miss Olive F. Eldridge, will be working for her doctorate this summer at Boston University, and two members of her faculty will be taking courses there—Mrs. Cleo Flynn and Miss Edwin Bacigalupo. Eugene Gray and his wife are heading for the west coast on an extended motor trip, while Miss Elsie M. Coffey will be learning the customs south of the border down Mexico way—on a trip sponsored by the Newton Teachers Federation.

July and August weddings are planned for the second and fifth grade teachers at the Franklin School in West Newton. Miss Shirley Ann Wax and Miss Sonya Krainin will both become brides during the summer, while Miss Toula A. Laganas will test out the temperatures in Florida for a few weeks.

Miss Anne B. Fahy, principal of the Countryside School, will again be codirector of the Reading Clinic at Tufts, and Miss Catherine A. Lodge and Miss Eileen A. MacElarney will be clinicians there. Mrs. Roberta Schneider, third grade teacher, will be a counselor for senior girls at Camp Keeah in New York state, and Miss Joanne McCarthy will be married early in July. Two first-grade teachers at Countryside expect to receive their master's degrees in education from Boston University in August. They are Mrs. Laura F. Lally and Miss Rita M. Cushing.

Fr. Weigler, S.J. Sings First Mass

The Rev. Richard J. Weigler, A. Weigler of 18 Gilbert street, S.J., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph West Newton, sang his first Mass at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. Robert A. Hewitt, S.J., a member of the Boston College faculty. Msgr. Bernard S. O'Kane assisted Father Weigler. The Rev. Richard Murphy was deacon and the Rev. Walter Abbott, sub-deacon. The Rev. John Bresnahan was master of ceremonies.

A breakfast followed the mass at Longwood Towers, Brookline, and a reception was tendered the young priest at St. Bernard's Clubhouse in the afternoon.

Father Weigler prepared for his priestly studies at Boston College High School and Boston College. He entered the Society of Jesus in 1943 and studied at Shadowbrook and Weston College. During his regency he taught at Cramwell Preparatory and Cheverus High School at Portland, Me.

An act of INDEPENDENCE

Declaring independence is one thing; achieving it is another. The Declaration of Independence by colonists was a notice that they were determined to get the freedom they wanted. The freedom itself was won through action...not words.

Today millions of Americans make a savings account their personal declaration of financial independence. They get the things they want by saving regularly for them.

Autos Must Park Front-End To Curb -- New Styles Blamed

In an unusual gesture to meet problems produced by the styling of the new automobiles, the Board of Aldermen recently decreed that motorists angle-parking on a section of Washington street, must head their cars into the curb.

In other words, a motorist will not be allowed to back his automobile into an angled parking space.

It is the first time the Aldermen ever have specified that motorists must drive their cars into a parking space and not back them into it.

The ruling is not due to the fact that the Aldermen have any lack of confidence in Newton automobile operators as back-uppers. They're probably as good as could be found anywhere.

What prompted the extraordinary restriction in the new parking regulations are the long fins which project out from the rear of the latest-styled automobiles.

It's bad enough when the front bumpers extend over a sidewalk. But when a car is backed into the curb, even at an angle, the rear-end fins reach so far over the sidewalk that there isn't much room for anybody to walk, to say nothing about the dangers of injuring shins and knees.

Under the provisions of the so-called, new-type ordinance, angle parking (headed in) will be allowed on Washington street, from Richardson street to Central avenue, facing the railroad tracks.

A graduate three years ago of Newton High School, Miss Samoylenko is a senior at the University of Massachusetts, where she is majoring in sociology. Active in student affairs, she has been house chairman in her dormitory and president of the Women's Athletic Association.

... With The College Crowd

At Yale University, Eli S. Jacobs of the Class of '59, has received an award certificate for his outstanding contributions to the religious life of the Yale community. The son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Jacobs of 1115 Commonwealth Ave., he is a graduate of Phillips Academy, Andover. He is majoring in history at Yale and is associate editor of the Yale Daily News.

Cadet Cpl. George R. Simmons, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred A. Simmons of 128 Chestnut St., West Newton, recently won the Army Superior Cadet Ribbon at St. Lawrence University for being the outstanding cadet in his class.

Richard J. Kirschbaum of this year will be co-captain of next year's basketball squad at Babson Institute where he is a junior.

Miss Lynda Gregorian, 28 Lenox street, West Newton, has been a member of the editorial board for this year's edition of "Freshman Focus," annual publication of writing by first-year students at Wellesley College in Wellesley. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian. Her mother and grandmother both are Wellesley alumnae. A graduate of Northfield School for Girls, Miss Gregorian is a member of the Wellesley College Choir and also is on the critic board of Keynote, college literary magazine at Wellesley.

When results of Northeastern University student government elections were announced, one of the students elected to Class Board student-government positions was Stephen Berish, 21 Deborah Road, Newton. Berish, a graduate of Newton High School, is a sophomore majoring in industrial engineering.

Two Smith College students from the Newton area were recently honored at the college. Miss Joan Cannon, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Ross Cannon, 72 Highland street, a freshman, was chosen to participate in Float Night, a water pageant of canoe floats decorated and manned by outstanding members of the freshman class. Miss Elizabeth Shirley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Shirley, 67 Annawam road, Waban, a junior, has been named a junior usher, and will assist at commencement.

At the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, Miss Vickie Roquette, recipient of the scholarship presented by the Newtonville Women's Club for the past two years, has been named to the "Scolls," an honor organization of leading women students. Miss Roquette was chosen as one of 15 outstanding freshmen of the University and was also cited among the most valuable members of the recognized student organizations. She is a member of the Women's Athletic Association, Student Senate, Home Economics Club, Christian Association and the Chi Omega Sorority.

Miss Natalie Rosengard, Wilson College freshman and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Rosengard, 280 Quincequin road, Waban, has been named chairman of the publicity committee of the Wilson Social Service Association. She will direct publicity for the association, which conducts year-round recreational programs at the Chambersburg Hospital, the Shoot Home for the Aged, and the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Miss Rosengard is a graduate of Newton High School.

This year's commencement marked the 150th anniversary of Andover Theological Seminary which in 1931 was merged with the Newton Theological Institute. The school offers the oldest Congregational and Baptist seminaries in the country.

Of this year's 58 graduates, 47 were presented with Bachelor of Divinity degrees, three became Masters of Religion and 16 were awarded Master of Sacred Theology degrees. The class was one of the school's largest.

The degree recipients included Mrs. Helen E. Terkelson of Auburndale, who graduated from Simmons College in 1929. She is an active church woman and mother who plans to do counseling work in hospitals and reformatories. Another degree winner was Robert P. Lawrence of Norwich, Conn., one-time FBI agent, and presently a part-time chaplain at Walpole State prison.

Several of the degree winners came from Canada, Japan and India.

NORWOOD ARENA

8:30 P.M., Wednesday, JULY 10th

(In case of rainout, following nite)

The largest crowd of the year is expected at the Norwood Arena when this great combined show is held. Practically no one in the east has seen Camel Races, or Ostrich Races, or Zebra Races, and it may surprise you but these animals are very fast—and in the show there will be a THOUSAND LAUGHS as all will be driven by local drivers—either prominent people or favorite stock car drivers. The three Thrill Shows will operate this way. Three men (one from each of the shows) will roll an automobile end-over-end and side-over-side. Three men (one from each show) will leap a car high into the air and jump 100' or more feet. Three drivers (one from each show) will do every one of the contestable feats—a smashing, crashing, wrecking show of 33 events PLUS Stock Car Races, PLUS 12 Wild Animal Events—50 events in all. Adults $2, Kids 50¢.

Summer School Has New Program

Two innovations will feature the program of the Newton High Summer School this year.

Under one plan students will be able to earn diploma credits by building word power, improving reading, typing and two social studies.

Under another, made possible by the co-operation with the Harvard-Newton Teacher Training program, the study of English 10, English 11, biology, plain geometry and U. S. History will be offered.

More than 20 high school subjects may also be taken for review and up-grading purposes.

The school opens Monday and will close August 9.

FREE! Shell SONITOR Anti-Rust Service Another Shell Heating Oil "Certified Comfort" Extra-

You get real rust protection for your fuel system when you order our "Certified Comfort" service. At no extra cost, we apply Sonitor to your storage tank. Sonitor starts to work minutes after it's placed in your tank. It stops old rust from spreading — prevents new rust from forming.

With our Shell "Certified Comfort" plan, you also get heating oil with Shell's special anti-screen clogging additive. This additive helps Shell Heating Oil clean your fuel filter as it heats. Get BOTH of these extras when you order oil heat — call us.

Special Races at Wonderland

With two champions crowned in June, Wonderland Park now is preparing for the six big races to come in July and August. Dates for these stake events, including the Wonderland Derby on Saturday, Aug. 17, have just been announced by Director of Racing Charles T. Beaupre.

The Essex County Championship over the 7/16ths of a mile Wonderlend course will be run July 6 with the semi-finals July 1. The Suffolk County Championship over the half-mile Huestis course goes July 20 with semi-finals July 15.

The George E. Huestis Memorial Race will be held July 17 with eight greyhounds competing over the Revere course. The Wonderlend Kennel Championships to be run over 5-16ths, Revere, Wonderlend and Huestis courses are slated for July 18, 22, 26 and 31.

Quarter-finals of the Wonderlend Juvenile Stake over 5-16ths of a mile will be run Aug. 6-7-8 and 9; semi-finals, Aug. 14

Four Get Degrees From Bowdoin

Four Newton men were among the recipients of bachelor of arts degrees at Bowdoin College's 152nd commencement exercises. The degree winners were Robert W. Thompson of 22 Lafayette road, Newton Lower Falls; H. Christian Jacobson of 44 Churchill street, Newton; George W. Duncklee, 2nd, of 21 Tarleton road, Newton Centre; George F. Rowland, 12 Graydale circle, Auburndale.

All are graduate of Newton High School.

Jacobson, in addition to his degree, received a commission as second lieutenant in the Army Reserve artillery. He will begin two years of active service in November.

and 15; consolation, Aug. 21, and finals Aug. 22.

Wonderlend Derby quarter-finals will be run over the Revere course Aug. 9-10; semi-finals, Aug. 14; consolation and finals, Aug. 17.

New Assist. Rabbi at Emanuel Temple

Rabbi Baruch A. Levine, ordained a rabbi by the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in 1955, has been appointed assistant rabbi of Temple Emanuel of Newton, President Joseph G. Deitz of the temple announced this week.

The tremendous growth of Temple Emanuel, now with a membership of 1256 families, made the appointment of an assistant to the senior rabbi, Dr. Albert I. Gordon, necessary.

Rabbi Levine is a native of Cleveland and graduate of Western University. In addition to his rabbinical ordination, he received his degree as master of Hebrew literature in 1955.

His scholastic attainments and prizes won at the seminary were many. For several years he was director of the leaders training fellowship program at Camp Ramah in the Poconos. He has taught post graduate courses at the East Midwood Jewish Centre, Brooklyn.

Rabbi Levine entered military service as chaplain in June, 1955. He has been stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. He will assume his new duties, Sept. 1.

Gets Scholarship From Dupont Co.

Rudolph Amann of Newton Centre, is one of four Swarthmore College students selected to receive a scholarship fund from the new teacher-training program launched by E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co., Inc.

The program is designed to recruit young teachers of mathematics, physics and chemistry and to start them teaching as soon as possible.

Under its provision, young Amann will teach mathematics in the Swarthmore High School during the summer following a tour of duty with the armed forces.

3 Newton Explorer Scouts Are Bound for New Mexico

If you happen to be missing three fine local boys from around the neighborhood these days don't get worried.

They're out in the Rockies.
About the time that another ball game is getting started at the nearest playground they may be panning for gold, trying to
message an Indian wrote on a piece of bark many generations ago; or maybe they'll be leading a pack burro around a dangerous mountain curve.

The boys are Herbert Mc-

Kinney of 340 Linwood avenue,
Newtonville; David J. Barry of 32 Lenox street,
West Newton and Robert S.
Regan of 262 River street,
West Newton.

They are members of the Norumbega Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America. All are Explorer Scouts.

And right now they are part of the 11-boy Philmont Expedition of the Norumbega Council.
Under the leadership of David P.
Jones, district scout executive of Norumbega Council, the Philmont Expedition is now somewhere in the 127,000 acres of rugged western country on the slopes of the Sangre de Cristo Range in New Mexico.

That's one of the real tough sections of the Rocky Mountains.

destination was Raton, New Mexico. They arrived at the Scout Ranch Sunday.

They will remain in the Southwest until Tuesday, July 23.

They'll arrive back in Newton-ville Thursday, July 25.

Mayor Vetoes Country Club Probe Order

NEWTON'S NEW CHARTERHOUSE INN MOTOR HOTEL — Here is the artist's conception of what the fine new motor hotel will look like on its completion at Route 9 and the Hammond Pond Parkway. Ground for the project was broken this week. The deluxe modern hostelry will include a cocktail lounge, coffee shop, swimming pool and air-conditioned rooms. It will be operated by the Hotels Corporation of America.

Ground Is Broken For Motor Hotel

Thirsty Thieves Steal Two Pints

Thieves evidently intent on quenching their thirst gained entrance to the Riverside Sand and Gravel Co. at 399 Grove st. in Newton Lower Falls over the past weekend.

After an unsuccessful attempt to smash the coke machine in the plant's office, they settled for two pints of whiskey and between $2 and $3 in change.

The burglars entered the building by crawling through a small opening between a window and machine.

So tiny was the opening through which they crawled that police suspect the theft was the work of small boys who headed first for the coke machine.

With Mrs. Adelaide Ball, first woman elected to the Newton Board of Aldermen, spading the first shovelful of earth, ground was broken this week for the 53-unit motor hotel to be known as Charterhouse Inn on Route 9 and Hammond Pond Parkway. Work on the construction of the motor hotel, which will consist of a two and a three-story building of fireproof construction, was started with the ground breaking.

Representative George E. Rawson, (R-Newton) sought to have referred to the next session of the Legislature a resolve calling for a further study of the proposed abolition of the death penalty for murder.

He told the House that further study at this session was unnecessary and foolish. It was pointed out that the House had previously killed several bills aimed at such abolition and had shunted aside an inaugural proposal of Governor Furcolo seeking to have the public decide in a referendum.

Votes for Death 'Study' Over Rawson's Pleas

The slaying of Herman Lovinger in the home of his New father-in-law by a gang of bandits who invaded the house again became a subject of a debate on the floor of the Legislature the other day.

He told the House that further study at this session was unnecessary and foolish. It was pointed out that the House had previously killed several bills aimed at such abolition and had shunted aside an inaugural proposal of Governor Furcolo seeking to have the public decide in a referendum.

No Opposition To Nursing Home

A petition for a permit to operate a nursing home at 399 Newtonville ave., Newtonville, met no opposition at a public hearing held this week at City Hall by the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee. The matter probably will be voted on by the full Board of Aldermen at their meeting next Monday.

Under the terms of the petition 14 patients would be housed in the proposed nursing home.

Mrs. Mary C. O'Grady of 47 Kirkstall rd., Newtonville, plans to purchase the dwelling at 399 Newtonville ave. which is now a convalescent home with 10 patients. The building was formerly the Fuller Hospital and has been a nursing home since 1948.

Even Front Door Isn't Safe Now

Perhaps it was the work of the thieves who would steal the proverbial hot stove. At any rate, would-be burglars tried to make off with the aluminum front door from the home of Frank Guzzi at 15 Randlett rd. They had removed the pins from the door when something apparently frightened them away.

In another theft someone stole an aluminum lawn chair from the back yard of the home of Sidney Covitch at 69 Pontiac rd.

Mayor Asks $128,945 For Several Projects

Appropriation orders totalling $128,945 have been submitted by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., to the Board of Aldermen for action at their meeting next Monday night.

The biggest project proposed by the Mayor calls for the expenditure of $48,835 for the acceptance and construction of Allen avenue as a public thoroughfare. Part of Allen avenue already has been built as a public street. The order awaiting the approval of the Aldermen provides for the surfacing of the roadway from the finished portion to Woodward street, a distance of 1180 feet.

An additional off-street parking area at Melrose avenue and Lexington street would be constructed at a cost of $8000 under the terms of another of the Mayor's recommendations.

The Mayor transmitted to the Aldermen a vote of the School Committee requesting an additional appropriation of $6000 for the purpose of conducting this year's summer session at the Newton High School.

An appropriation of $3000 is recommended for the purchase of parking meters to be installed on Watertown street.

Relayed by the Mayor was a request of the city clerk for an appropriation of $1765 for the women's compensation account to make possible the settlement of the case of Arthur Ciolfi.

The ninth appropriation recommendation provides for an expenditure of $920 for the extension of a water main in Milford road.

Also proposed by Mayor Whitmore is an appropriation of $13,

Legal Snarl Puts Commw'lth C. C. Party Rights In Doubt

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., has vetoed an order adopted by the Board of Aldermen directing the officers of the Commonwealth Country Club to appear before them next Monday night to show cause why they should not be stripped of their right to hold public functions.

The Mayor took the action as a result of a decision by the Massachusetts Supreme Court which created so complicated a legal tangle that no one was certain today as to exactly what rights the Commonwealth Country Club has or hasn't got.

The Supreme Court ruled that the Board of Aldermen has no power to grant zoning variances.

While the court decree was not made in the case of the Commonwealth Country Club, it obviously applied to it.

In effect, the court decision means that the Aldermen had no authority to grant zoning variances to the Commonwealth Country Club or anyone else and that they acted illegally in doing so.

Legal experts declare that the Aldermen cannot rescind what they had no right to grant in the first place.

That was why the Mayor under the law and in the face of the Supreme Court had little alternative but to veto the order passed by a 13-3 vote at the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Where that leaves the Commonwealth Country Club was a legal conundrum which nobody in authority was prepared to answer today.

Technically, the Country Club is operating under a zoning variance which the Aldermen granted illegally.

But the legal sharps at edition time were still uncertain just what the significance of that will be.

The case of the Commonwealth C.C. was projected into the forefront because at the last Aldermanic meeting Alderman Hirsh Sharf presented a motion asking that the officials of the C.C.C. be

Youth Picked Up Here Dives From Station Window

James T. O'Malley of Monticello avenue, Dorchester, who had been picked up in Newton Sunday and turned over to the Boston police, was reported to be recovering from injuries received when he dived out a window of the Back Bay police station in Boston.

Falling 20 feet into an alley behind the police station, O'Malley suffered a broken nose, broken left leg and a broken right kneecap.

He was treated at Boston City Hospital, then returned to the police station.

O'Malley was picked up by Sergeant Frank J. Regan in Newton early Sunday when the officer found him sleeping in a car. Two other youths were picked up by Inspector Joseph B. Lyons on Exeter street, West Newton, near the home of the owner of the car which was traced through its registration.

All were turned over to the Boston police.

O'Malley was being questioned about the holdup of two

Newton Jet Pilot Jumps to Safety
Lt. Joseph Onate of Newton paracuted to safety when two rocket-laden jet planes collided 20,000 feet in the air above the Catalina Mountains near Tucson, Ariz., this week.

The pilot of one of the planes, Onate is the son of B.U. Professor and Mrs. Jose D. Onate. After paracuting to the ground, he was taken out of the rugged mountain country by a 14-member rescue team.

Mere Espousal of Sales Tax Did Not Injure Gov. Furcolo

Has Governor Foster Furcolo impaired his chances of gaining reelection by advocating a sales tax? Can any Governor favor a sales tax without jeopardizing or even ruining his public career?

Those two questions have been put to this writer many times in recent months by politicians and politically-minded persons.

If Furcolo should be defeated for reelection a year from next November, there will be an understandable disposition to blame his championship of the sales tax for his downfall, and the Governors who come after him will be very likely to back away warily from any suggestion that they seek the passage of such a tax.

Yet, this observer believes that Furcolo did NOT injure himself politically by the mere act of proposing a sales tax. We also are convinced that a Governor can urge a sales tax without committing political suicide.

The sales tax issue has been under debate and discussion for almost six months, and we have yet to meet one person outside the Legislature or the official councils of organized labor who is violently opposed to the basic principle of a sales tax.

Retail Council of Local Merchants Established

Newton merchants in all competitive lines met last week in Newton Highlands at the Civic Room of the New England Advertising Company to pool their interests and antagonisms in an effort to create an even greater mutual profit in Newton living.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, a Retail Council of Newton merchants was established in order to explore and develop joint mercantile growth in this city.

The Steering Committee of the new Retail Trade Council, headed by Philip Bram of Newtonville, chairman, includes Robert F. Mahoney of Filene's in Chestnut Hill and Anthony Davis of West Newton. This committee was given a list of pro-

Snow Plow Named In Newton Claim

Here's a cold thought in the July weather. Pending before the Board of Aldermen is a claim by Jay Alex Lane of 68 Day st., Auburndale, for damage caused to the shrubbery at his house when a snow plow uprooted a large tree, causing it to fall across the shrubs and into the driveway.

Thieves also broke into the home of Henry G. Stenberg at 135 Arlington st. and made off with between $95 and $100 in cash. They entered the dwelling by breaking a pane of glass in a rear cellar window.

In that case they carried away a king-sized Ballantine sample beer bank containing between $70 and $75 in quarters. In an upper bedroom they also discovered a band-aid box with $21 in bills and an unspecified amount of change.

YOUR MONEY ACTUALLY BUYS
UP TO 8.8% MORE SOLID CAR PER DOLLAR IN A PONTIAC!

The so-called "low-price" cars fall far short of Pontiac in actual, measurable car—and your Pontiac dealer has official specification comparisons to prove it! No smaller car comes even close to Pontiac's rock-solid construction . . . from its rugged X-member frame through every inch of its heavy-duty running gear. Pontiac is muscle all the way! This extra heft means Pontiac holds the road like no smaller car you've ever driven . . . gives you a ride remarkably free of bounce, shake and noise! Put all the facts and figures to your own personal road test. Call your own shots and see how Pontiac's Precision-Touch Controls let you relax to steering, braking and parking ease out of reach of the small jobs!

WITH 4 TO 7 EXTRA INCHES OF WHEELBASE, PONTIAC
OUTCLASSES THE SMALLER CARS IN RIDE AND ROADABILITY!

Pontiac's length is built in—not hung on! Smaller cars extend bumpers and fenders to look big, but Pontiac doesn't need camouflage . . . it is big! Its man-sized 122-inch wheelbase strides over the bumps instead of riding on them. This extra length, plus a carload of new suspension ideas, results in Pontiac's exclusive Level-Line Ride that no car at any price can surpass! Sample a few miles—and you'll never re-enlist in the small-car army again!

NO CAR AT ANY PRICE

If it's proof you want, your Pontiac dealer is loaded with it—point-by-point engineering comparisons and on-the-record facts and figures. No smaller car is designed or built to come close to Pontiac's eye-opening response . . . its smooth, effortless mastery of every driving demand. Put the facts on America's Number One Road Car to a test and you'll leave the little league for good!

PONTIAC HAS ALWAYS COMMANDED A HIGH TRADE-IN DOLLAR!

When you put your money in a Pontiac you know your investment will be riding high for a long time to come! In fact, over the years, no car has a better reputation for being a top-demand used car. So before you sign on the dotted line for a smaller job at Pontiac's price — get the dollar-stretching good news your Pontiac dealer has waiting for you. Here in the easiest move of your life are the car and the value that will get you out of the small-car class for keeps!

Son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Daly, both of whom are deceased; Commander Daly was graduated from Newton High School in 1940. He entered Boston College the same year, then in 1942, received an appointment to the Naval Academy.

He was graduated from the Naval Academy in June 1945, then served as junior officer on the USS Collett (DD-730*) until 1947. He then reported to the USS PCE (Escort patrol craft) 900 as Executive Officer. In 1948 he went to the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla., where he began flight training, winning his Navy Wings in 1949. He was assigned to Fighter Squadron 73 in which he served as a pilot until 1952.

From 1952 until 1954 he served as a member of the faculty of Notre Dame University as an Assistant Professor of Naval Science. In 1954 he received orders to Air Transport Squadron Six, at that time one of four MATS Naval Squadrons. The following year, Commander Daly received his first Joint Staff assignment and was ordered to duty with Headquarters, Military Air Transport Service, Washington, D.C.

His decorations and ribbons include the American Theater Ribbon, the China Service Medal, Occupation Ribbon, National Defense Medal, and the World War II Victory Medal.

Commander Daly is married to the former Elizabeth Ann Lynch, and has four children: Kathleen, 8; Richard Junior, 7; Mary Beth, 4; and Patricia Ann, 3 months old. His official residence is 5824, 23rd Place, Hillcrest Heights, S.E., Washington, D.C.

Commander Daly is a nephew of Doctor Harold J. McGinn, Main Street, Bangor, Maine. He has two sisters, Helen M. Daly and Mary Frances Daly, who live at 59 Playstead Road, Newton, Massachusetts.

Mayor.

Sharp's order was adopted by a 13-3 vote.

He alleged that officials of the Commonwealth Country Club were violating the terms under which the zoning variance was granted them. Alderman Sharp alleged that:

Public functions are being held on Saturday nights.

More than three affairs with an attendance of 200 or over have been held in a period of a week.

Closing hours have been violated.

No exit or entrance has been established on Undine rd. as was agreed upon.

Sharp protested that conditions have been "very serious" for persons living in vicinity of the club.

A hearing was scheduled for next Monday night. Then came the Supreme Court ruling which in effect invalidates all the zoning variances granted by the Board of Aldermen.

And Mayor Whitmore was obliged to step in and veto the order.

The question of what rights the Commonwealth Country Club possesses is a fine one which requires careful study, the Graphic was told.

This applies also to the building permit which was issued to the club by the building commissioner on the order of the Board of Aldermen.

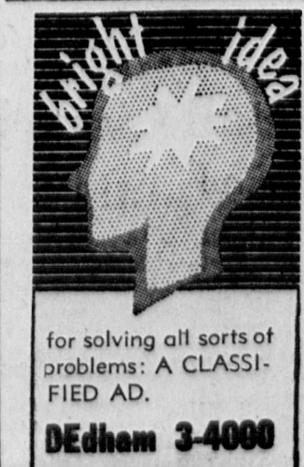

Whether the Commonwealth Country Club will have to apply to the Board of Zoning Appeals to get a legal variance is now uncertain.

Meanwhile, persons living in the vicinity of the club intimated that they may take the matter into court if conditions are not corrected to their satisfaction.

Billy Goodale Assist. Coach

At Age 13

After all, Bucky Harris was not much more than 10 years older when he led the Washington Senators—all teams—to an American League pennant. Then a little later, Joe Cronin was in his very early 20s when he did the same thing for the same Senators.

That's why the feat of Billy Goodale, handling the assistant coaching job of the Waban Redskins of the South minor league at the age of 13 shouldn't be causing so much eye-brow lifting.

There are such things as born leaders and Billy appears to be one of them. A year ago Billy was just another player in the LL minor league but you could tell even then that he knew what it was all about. More than that he knew how to impart some of his knowledge to the other youngsters.

Accordingly when the Waban Redskins found themselves in need of an assistant coach at the season's start, Billy said, "I'll take the job," and they gave it to him, too.

And along with the ability 13-year-old Billy has the winning personality to go with a winner.

The Charterhouse Inn in Newton will have parking facilities for 125 cars. An innovation will be that guests may register directly from their cars. There will be a 1450-square foot swimming pool, and rooms are to be air-conditioned, along with having radio and TV sets.

Mrs. Whitmore To Seek Return To School Board

Mrs. Grace C. Whitmore announces her plans to seek reelection as a member of the Newton School Committee.

A resident of Newton for 25 years she has been active in civic and community affairs throughout her residency here. She has been a Girl Scout leader and was commissioner from 1946 to 1949.

At present she is chairman of the Committee on Educational Television for the Massachusetts Association of School Committees and chairman of the Massachusetts Council for School Television.

Coincidental with her announcement Mrs. Gibbs made the following statement:

"As taxpayers, the School Committee members are ever mindful of costs. The most important question, however, is not how much is the tax rate, but what are we getting for our money. That is what every one of us asks when we buy a house, a car, a washing machine. Isn't it just as important when we are buying the education for the future citizens of our country?

"Newton has been fortunate in having built up over the years a fine, nationally-recognized school system. Newton has a staff of teachers and administrators always on the alert for ideas which will do a better job of providing the tools Newton children need to prepare them to face life as it is to be lived in the last half of the twentieth century. Our schools must continue to grow in outlook and approach, if they are to keep this enviable position.

"Newton schools are staffed with one of the finest group of teachers, for a system of its size, in the country. Conscientious and hardworking, they spend many hours outside the classroom preparing material and assisting those who need help. Many teachers will be found at their desks long after the children have left, or working at home, in the library, or taking courses which will help them do a better job. How fortunate Newton is to have that kind of teacher in the classroom.

"The School Committee tries to make available to the teacher any tools which will help her do a good job better. Currently, the field of Television is being explored as a means of bringing into the classroom materials otherwise unavailable to the teacher. This is not television as another visual aid or entertainment, but as a tool which the teacher will be taught to use in her teaching program. This is being done successfully in many other parts of the country. Plans are underway, at present, to provide one-half hour television programs daily in school time over station WGBH-TV beginning sometime in 1958."

Miss Holt has served the Library of the three Harvard Schools since 1920. A graduate of Radcliffe College with the class of 1914, Miss Holt is a member of the Medical Libraries Association, of the Harvard Library Club and of the Radcliffe Alumnae Association.

THE MAILMAN IN SUMMER

In that era of good will which comes to most people around Christmas time you hear a lot of sympathy expressed for the mailman. Folks remember that it was the mailman who brought those bushels of cards. It was the mailman who toted to the door a number of the gifts.

It was recalled, too, that the mailman came on the days that were bitterly cold. He came on the days when the snow was piled in drifts. He came when the going called for tough trudging through the slush.

Then most of us forgot about the mailman until another Christmas came and went.

We were thinking of all that the other day.

The mailman himself reminded us. He wasn't complaining. He was smiling as usual. His "hello" was cheery as ever. He didn't even say, "Is it hot enough for you?" or some other inane thing.

But his bag was heavy. His blue shirt was soaked. He was tired. We looked at the clock. It was the usual time for his delivery. The weather hadn't slowed him up. He merely shifted the leather belt of that big bag on his shoulder. When last we saw him he was selecting the pieces of mail he was going to leave at the next door.

July is going to see the postal rates go soaring in some instances. Mr. Summerfield's top echelon are even talking about seven cents for the stamp we now get for three cents.

We hope the letter carrier and the clerk back in the office get some of that extra money.

We hope, too, that folks will remember the mail man works just as hard in summer as he does in winter. The route's just as long. The bag's just as heavy. The dogs that are usually indoors in winter are outdoors in the summer. And the canines which don't like letter carriers can be overly short-tempered when it's hot and muggy.

As it implies over the Post Office Building in New York the mailman gets to your door in all seasons of the year—in the winter when it can get punishingly cold—and in the summer when it becomes a bit warm and that leather bag takes on the weight seemingly measured in tons.

Political Overtones

We have met a good many people who object strenuously to some provisions in the bill submitted to the Legislature by the Governor such as the tax on machinery which would be a blow to job-providing industrial plants. Those persons invariably declared, however, that minor revisions in the measure would have overcome their objections.

On the surface the opinion that Governor Furcolo did not jeopardize his public career by sponsoring a sales tax bill may seem to be in contradiction with the generally accepted fact that Furcolo's political stock has dropped since he assumed office.

However, that may not be as paradoxical as it appears at first glance.

What may have hurt Furcolo to a politically painful degree was his inability to persuade a majority of the members of the Legislature to follow his leadership. That could seriously injure his chances of achieving another term.

Most political experts are in agreement that a Governor ordinarily does not by any one action or any single mistake cause a substantial percentage of the voters to turn away from him. He might alienate one group with a single stroke of the pen. Rarely does he antagonize a sizable cross-section of the people in such a manner.

What invariably happens is that the voters slowly build up an impression concerning a Governor—that he is doing a good job or a poor one—that he is furnishing a high standard of leadership or an inferior quality. When that impression is shaped, it is not easy to change it.

What seemingly has made an impact and impression upon the voters in the sales tax conflict is that Governor Furcolo was rebuffed by members of his own party and by labor chieftains who had supported him for election and that in the end he was unable to prevail.

In other words, if Furcolo has been hurt by the sales tax fight—and politicians in both parties believe that he has—he was because he lost the fight, not because he started it.

When Governor Furcolo was weighing his possible sponsorship of the sales tax early in the year, either he or his advisers must have reached the opinion that he could advocate the tax without damaging himself politically and that the move might even strengthen his position.

We believe that appraisal was a completely correct one. His championship of the sales tax could have helped him. As it turned out, it probably didn't, but it could have done so. The mistakes were committed in the carrying out of the sales tax campaign, not in the decision to seek the tax.

Some politicians will dissent from that opinion. They argue that Robert F. Bradford was the last Governor to recommend the enactment of a sales tax, that he signed his political death warrant by doing so and was overwhelmingly defeated by Paul A. Dever in the subsequent election.

We don't think that Bradford's downfall in 1948 had anything to do with his stand on the sales tax. That was caused by three main factors.

The first was that the bitter fight within the Massachusetts delegation at the 1948 Republican national convention caused a sharp cleavage in the Bay State's GOP and hurt Bradford severely. The second was the strong trend to Harry S. Truman which occurred near the close of that campaign. The third was Dever's success in convincing the voters that he could prevent an increase in MTA fares if he were elected, a conviction which subsequent developments showed to be scarcely justified.

In that '48 gubernatorial campaign a threatened rise

Mom Lives Baseball Morn 'Till Night In Little League Homes

Early suppers, late vacations, and baseball with every course of every meal is the order of the day in the hundreds of families involved in Newton's vast Little League program during the hectic weeks of early summer.

To Greater Glory

If her prayers go unanswered and her men go on to greater baseball glory, she can only go along with them, happy in the knowledge that at least the majors play in the afternoon or the evening, not at the witching hour of 6 p.m.

Many LL veterans have gone on to reap laurels in the sports world. One such is NN's Jimmy Fitzpatrick who has a bid from the N.Y. Yankees. Bob Barry became a Catholic All Star, and Brian Kenny was a standout at NHS this year.

Brothers Abound

Another dyed-in-the-dugout LL family are the Peter E. Ryans of Newtonville. While father serves as the enthusiastic and able president of the Newton Central district, sons Peter and Richard hold down berths on the Red Sox team.

On the Cardinals are Gary and Ricky Fenton, and father and son come — manager Ray McCann and son Terry, 10, of the Cardinals' infiel.

In the Cubs line-up are Rusty and Martin Swartz of Newtonville, while West Newton offers the Al Chasson family.

May Showed Slackened Pace In Newton Home Building

By WALTER A. HOOD
(Treasurer, Newton Cooperative Bank)

New home building in Newton during May amounted to $354,500 compared with $455,500 for the same month last year. This brings the 5-month total to $1,237,100 against $1,179,300. This record is better than the average performance throughout the Commonwealth. Additions, alterations and repairs in May 1957 came to $103,290 for a 5-month total of $513, $80 compared with $111,210 in May a year ago with a 1956 total in the first five months of $601,815. Deed transfers in May amounted to 80 compared with 109 in May 1956. The 5-month total in this activity is 390 this year compared with 559 for 1956.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

A leading Chicago realtor has declared that the name of the street on which a house is located has a definite effect on the property value. A $20,000 house on Oak Street has been shown to have less sale value than one on Briarcliff Drive. The big population shift to the suburbs has created a demand for more exclusive-sounding street names. It seems property values can almost be measured by the length of the street name, striking an average of around seven letters (6.8 to be exact) according to a recent survey. Street names such as Oak, Pine and Water were mentioned as among those losing their former popularity.

RECORD YEAR OF THRIFT

The Securities and Exchange Commission revealed in June of this year that final figures showed Americans saved $14.5 billion in 1956, which is the greatest peace-time total of any year since World War II and nearly double the amount saved in 1955. It was also revealed that indebtedness was reduced by one-half from 1955 chiefly due to the fact that fewer automobiles were sold in 1956.

SIX OUT OF SEVEN SAVE IN BANKS

A recent survey of the American Banker's Association found that people put money in a bank chiefly for one of three reasons: habit, thrift or convenience of having cash available in case of sudden need. Only eight cents of every dollar saved goes into stocks and much of that from people who already have reached the legal limit in their savings. This condition is traced to the fact that in modern Co-operative bank for example, the location is close at hand and any deposit, large or small is accepted up to a legal limit of $800 for a single account and double that in a joint account. This money is always available, without any chance of loss, when it is needed. This even applies to the club-type Serial Shares which may be interrupted any time without affecting the earned interest which is usually at a premium rate. Contrary to popular misconception, Co-operative Bank

Serial Shares on the average earn the best interest available today and may be withdrawn regardless of the length of time they are held.

Rawson Winning Fight to Control Sale of Firearms

Representative George A. Rawson of Newton this week appeared to be nearing his goal in his fight for the enactment of a law to control the sale of firearms in Massachusetts.

The bill, which he has been battling for four years to have adopted, has been approved by the House of Representatives and sent to the State Senate.

Under the terms of the proposed law the police chief in each community would be vested with the authority to issue permits for the purchase of firearms and licenses to carry them.

Gunsmiths and dealers in rifles and shotguns would be licensed, if Rawson's measure becomes law, and records would be kept on the sales of guns, with monthly reports made to the State police on the sales.

Persons guilty of unlawful possession of firearms would be subject to heavy punishment. This would apply also to the use of explosives to damage property.

Supporters of the Rawson bill believe that it can play a part in reducing crimes of violence by making it more difficult for criminals to obtain firearms and that it will not impose any substantial hardship on those entitled to have firearms in their possession.

Representative Rawson has been working with State Commissioner of Public Safety Otis M. Whitney since 1953 to achieve the enactment of the bill.

Hospital Room Rates Upped $2

A general increase averaging $2 a day in room rates has been announced by the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

A statement released by the hospital claimed the increase was made necessary by recent increases in salaries in the nursing department and certain other increases which are shortly to be approved to make the hospital more competitive with industrial wage scales in the area.

"We are constantly faced with the necessity for competing with private industry in the hiring of our employees," a hospital spokesman said, "and we can only do so by making our wage scales more nearly equal to those paid by the private employer."

"The only method by which we can obtain the needed additional funds is by making these rate changes."

The statement released by the hospital said it is among the last of the larger community hospitals in the Greater Boston area to increase the room rates.

No Extra Lights For Two Streets

Residents on Farlow road and Exeter street have won their fight against proposals to provide additional street lighting on their streets. The Board of Aldermen gave leave to withdraw two petitions for the erection of an Edison electric light pole on Farlow road, 110 feet northeast of Beechcroft road, and a similar pole on Exeter street, 40 feet south-east of Commonwealth avenue.

Aldermen Recommend Stop Sign Installed For Hagar Road

An ordinance recommending the installation of a stop sign on Hagar road at Concord street, has been adopted by the Board of Aldermen at the request of Alderman Charles H. Cosgrove. Mr. Cosgrove had referred to the State Department of Public Works which asked that the measure be given its assent to the installation of stop signs.

130 Strong, 44 Classes of Hyde School Alumni, Reune

One-hundred-thirty Hyde Grammer School graduates of more than two-score classes ranging in time from 1888 to 1932 assembled in Newton Highlands recently for one of the largest school reunions ever held in this community.

The affair began at 5 p.m. with the renewal of old friendships, followed by a call to dinner at 6:30 p.m. by the ring-leader of the school bell. A three-piece orchestra furnished music for the dinner, catered by Robert Nims of Waltham.

At the head table were Fred Lahee of Dallas, Texas, class of 1900; Herbert E. Gleason, class of 1898; Dr. Warren F. Draper, class of 1899, retired Army major general, who acted as master of ceremonies; Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., class of 1919; Clarence E. Churchill, present principal of Hyde School; and Miss Lewis, Mrs. Marshall (Theresa Glassheen) and Mrs. Godsoe (Florence Palmer), past and present members of the teaching staff.

Each teacher present was presented an orchid and a souvenir badge, and those unable to attend were sent a dozen red roses each, along with a program and badge which were delivered to their homes during the banquet hour.

Introductory remarks were made by Dr. Warren Draper, Eisenhower's aide during the invasion of France. After recalling amusing incidents which took place during his various speaking engagements, Dr. Draper introduced Mayor Whitmore who traced the growth of Hyde School from the days he lived off Woodward street and traversed open country to and from school.

Other speakers were Fred Lahee, geologist with Sun Oil Company, and Principal Churchill, who regarded the group with the differences in school administration here and in England where he recently served as exchange principal.

At the business session following the dinner, the nominating committee brought in the following slate of officers for the Hyde School Alumni Association to serve for a term extending to the next reunion: Dr. Ralph D. Thompson, class of 1917, president; Elwyn Draper, class of 1905, of Manville, R. I., vice-president; Miss Maude E. Stearns, class of 1903, secretary; Miss Mildred Hiltz, class of 1911, co-secretary.

Serving on the executive committee will be Mrs. Emily Lentel Woodworth, class of 1905; Mrs. Laura McMullin Ramsdell, class of 1908; Mrs. Alice Parker Kellaway, class of 1931.

Classes present at the reunion ranged from that of 1888 represented solely by Miss Mary W. May to numerous members of the class of 1932.

Far-flung alumni attending included Guy Spooner, class of 1898, of Joplin, Mo., making his second reunion trip, and Mrs. Carleen Forbes Nash, class of 1897 of California. Mr. Spooner also brought along samples of Ozark Tavernelle Marble from Carthage, Mo., and lead from Eagle-Picher Lead Co., in Miami, Okla., to display to other reuniting alumni.

Chairman of the reunion was Herbert E. Gleason, class of 1898, who with the help of Principal Churchill, personally contacted all the alumni attending.

Assisting him on the committee were Miss Marion H. Dorr, class of 1900; Dr. Ralph D. Thompson, class of 1917; Miss Mildred Hiltz, class of 1911; Mrs. Mildred Levi Reidy, class of 1900; Mrs. Mabel Jones McKay, class of 1900; Mrs. Louise Bird Thoma, class of 1901; Mrs. Katherine A. Gleim, class of 1912; Mrs. Laura McMullin Ramsdell, class of 1908.

Also Mrs. Alice Parker Kellaway, class of 1931; Mrs. Marguerite Jones Kennedy, class of 1909; Mrs. Mildred Moore Atwood, class of 1908; Edward Melia, class of 1903; Miss Maude E. Stearns, class of 1903; Kenneth S. May, class of 1901; Mrs. Mary Sylvester Matthews, class of 1932.

NBC pushed the "Panic" button and set producer-creator Al Simon to work putting out 21 action-filled hours of suspenseful suspense series. This show will get a new time-spot in the fall, when the alternating George Gobel-Eddie Fisher program moves into Pan Am's prime time.

When John Conte was rushed to a hospital from his Matinee Theater hosting chores for an appendectomy, his wife Ruth checked into an adjoining room. This was no spur-of-the-moment whim, either.

It's part of a pact they have together. She'll get leave, however, to take over the hosting duties for a few weeks.

Eva Wolas is probably the first woman producer ever to make a war film. And with an all-star cast, she always enjoyed her work with Barry Sullivan, Gene Barry, John Barrymore Jr., Bruce Bennett and Richard Jaeckel.

Hugh Stevens and wife in real life, have seven dual stage roles to their credit. Yet they made their TV debut together, on July 4 in "Who Is Prince?"

Another example of "togetherness" on TV is the combination of perfect picture and true fidelity, and in "SYLVANIA TV" set it's a combination that brings the program to life right in your living-room, without strain on eyes or ears. For a demonstration, dial 7-1000.

Rep. Heaney Tells Why He Opposes Sales Tax

Representative Arthur G. Heaney of Newton in a statement today to The Graphic explained in detail his opposition to Governor Furcolo's sales tax bill.

A member of the joint legislative committee on taxation, which has been in the centre of the sales tax controversy, said the sales tax measure was reported favorably by that committee only after "some shameful manipulations."

2 Bandits Get $5450 In Holdup

Two men for whom warrants are out for two other bank hold-ups are wanted for questioning in the $5,450 holdup of the Newton Highlands Branch of the Newton Savings Bank.

The men are Robert J. Savage, 31, and Andrew Scibelli, 39, both of Boston.

Four employees, a woman cus-

Heaney said that the reasons given by the Governor for seeking a sales tax were "a need for relief for property owners, a desperate need for millions of additional State funds, and desire to create a more favorable climate for industry."

"It is interesting to note that nothing whatever was said about relief for income taxes until very recently," Representative Heaney observed.

The Newton legislator said "the desperate need" for additional State funds already has proved to be untrue, that the State would keep $15 million it does not need "which can only encourage more spending."

He expressed the conviction

Advocates Full Investigation of MTA Costs

A full-scale investigation of all phases of the operation of the MTA, which is now losing an estimated $20,000,000 a year, was advocated this week by Newton's Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

Newton's share of this year's MTA operating loss will be something just under $100,000, according to present indications.

Mayor Whitmore emphasized his belief that every possible means should be taken to ascertain whether the staggering

25 Quizzed In Paint Vandalism

Youthful vandals who spray-painted 21 automobiles with yellow paint are on the verge of being rounded up.

To date, 25 youths have been questioned at Newton police headquarters. Police stated that they are well on the way to establishing the identities of the vandals. They promised they would soon be in custody.

The de-poiling of the automobiles, many of which were parked in the Newton Centre area, caused a roar of indignation.

The paint, it is believed, was stolen from the garage of Edward D. Leonard of 152 Lake Avenue, Newton Centre. He told the police that a can of chrome yellow paint had been taken from his garage sometime since July 5.

The first reports of cars being sprayed with the yellow paint came from owners who had parked on Hancock Avenue, Lake Avenue, Charlotte Road, Berwick Road, and Laurel Street, Newton Centre.

The paint was sprayed on the hoods, tops of the cars, on the windows and fenders.

A dozen irate car owners re-

One: A knife with a thin, four-inch blade, broken off at the point.

Two: A young woman's statement to police that on the day of the murder she passed Mr. Fisher and a "tall, thin man" on the street and she heard Mr. Fisher say, "Why don't you leave me alone?" and the man replied, "You can't get away with this. I'll be back."

Driving through Newton?

Obey the traffic signs and, of course, the speed laws.

Of 14 motorists fined by Judge Donald E. Mayberry in Newton District Court Friday for traffic violations, nine were for failing to obey traffic signs.

Two were fined $10 each. Seven others were fined $5 each. A woman motorist in the group was fined an extra $5 for operating without a license in her possession.

The dog bite cases in June numbered 53. Chicken pox cases totalled 43, measles, 65, German measles, 94 and mumps, 94. There were 12 cases of scarlet fever, 1 of pulmonary tuberculosis, 1 of whooping cough, 3 of infection hepatitis, 1 of meningitis, no case of diphtheria and one case of typhoid fever.

TRAFFIC WAS DETOURED for more than two hours after this lumber truck overturned on Route 128 in Newton Lower Falls near the Route 16 overpass on Monday morning. The driver, John Johnson of Melrose, said he was forced to veer sharply to the left after coming off the cloverleaf ramp because the car in front of him suddenly and uncontrollably slowed its speed. The large truck overturned spilling its load of lumber over the highway like giant toothpicks, but Johnson reported only a slightly bruised chin. After the truck was righted, a derrick attempted to lift the lumber load back to the truck, but it finally had to be re-loaded onto another vehicle. Engine 6 of the Newton Fire Department under the direction of Lt. Murphy was at the scene to wash away the gasoline and Sgt. M. F. Greeley and several officers of the Newton Police Department re-routed the traffic. Johnson was employed by the Holt-Bugbee Co. and was headed for Hartford, Conn., via the Mass. Turnpike. The accident occurred only a short distance from the spot where another large trailer truck overturned a few weeks ago.

Bees -- 12,000 of Them -- Summering in Newton

They're buzz, buzzing around! A swarming 12,000 of them. You're right. They're bees.

Every day they buzz out of the attic of the home of Arthur M. Southwick at 176 Wabon Avenue. They go zooming overhead, then alight on lawns, privet hedges, among the white clover and the flowers.

Busy? -- you betcha. There are four pounds of them -- or, 12,000 real bees.

The bees belong to the Museum of Science, making their customary home in the Museum's Coolidge Gallery. They had been making their rounds of European lindens on Beacon Hill and the Boston Common and all the choice tidbits on the Esplanade. It was explained they would return to their hive via a special outside entrance to the Museum's Coolidge Gallery.

Now, here is how the bees happen to be "summering" in Newton.

It appears that the entrance

Dog Bite Cases Outnumber Most Communicable Diseases

There were more cases of dog bite reported in Newton in the month of June than there were instances of whooping cough, diphtheria, meningitis, infectious hepatitis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever and pulmonary tuberculosis all put together. In fact, there were more dog bite cases than chicken pox.

Only measles, German measles and mumps were reported in greater number than dog bite cases, according to the records in the office of Dr. Arthur W. Godfrey, acting director of Public Health.

The dog bite cases in June numbered 53. Chicken pox cases totalled 43, measles, 65, German measles, 94 and mumps, 94. There were 12 cases of scarlet fever, 1 of pulmonary tuberculosis, 1 of whooping cough, 3 of infection hepatitis, 1 of meningitis, no case of diphtheria and one case of typhoid fever.

Fido, like lots of people, apparently is more snippy and snappy in the hot weather.

Waban Host To First International U.S. Courts Junior Tennis Matches

Waban becomes host to the first International Junior Challenge Bowl tennis matches Aug. 18 and 19, when the big event will be brought to U. S. courts for the first time. Sponsoring organization will be the Waban Neighborhood Club.

The challenge bowl is in its second year. Last year, it was held in Ottawa, Ontario, and was such a success that the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association and its allied groups decided to make it a top annual fixture in international tennis.

Out of the competition will come each year the future greats of the amateur and pro tennis courts.

Newton Silent On Giving Sales Tax Help to MTA

A resolution adopted by the Malden Common Council and Board of Aldermen urging that revenue realized from a sales tax be applied against the MTA deficit, met only stony silence this week from Newton's city fathers to whom the measure was forwarded by Malden officials.

When Aldermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman asked his assembled clients what they desired to do on the Malden resolution, there was a complete silence in the spacious chamber where the Aldermen were holding their meeting. It was apparent that they felt they had enough problems of their own and wanted nothing whatever to do with the Malden measure concerning the sales tax.

Boys Accused of Kicking Dog

A 16-year-old Newton youth faces prosecution in Newton district court on a charge of kicking a dog into unconsciousness at the Stearns Playground. The dog belonged to a girl playing on the playground. Police said the youth will be summoned into court to answer a complaint as a result of a report made by the instructor in charge of the playground.

City Fathers Decide 15-2 For No Leashing

A proposal for the adoption of an ordinance barring unleashed dogs from public playgrounds and school buildings or grounds, was rejected by the Board of Aldermen this week by a 15-2 vote following a sharp debate which lasted until nearly midnight.

The outright defeat of the measure came after an attempt to refer the measure back to the Aldermanic claims and rules committee for additional study and consideration, had been beaten down by a 12-5 vote.

Predictions were made during the argument on the matter that the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, which sought the enactment of the restriction, will be back before the Aldermen in the near future advocating a general ordinance controlling the activity of dogs.

Several tart barbs were hurled during the dispute over the measure which had drawn a 5-0 adverse report from the claims and rules committee.

Referring to the fact that the proposal stipulates that dogs must be leashed if they are on any public playground or school yard between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. or in any school building while classes are in session, one Alderman demanded to know how the dogs would know whether school was in session.

"We don't expect the dogs will be able to tell the time, but we do expect their owners to assume some control of them," retorted Alderman William M. Powers.

Residents of Woodchester Drive in the Chestnut Hill section wanted additional lights on their streets but desired the cables carrying electric power to the lights placed underground.

Boy Had Switch Knife

The case of a 16-year-old Newton youth, who was arrested when police broke up a fight on Malvern terrace, has been continued until next week.

The youth was taken into custody on charges of having a switch knife in his possession and disturbing the peace.

Despite an opinion of Attorney General George Fингold that "no compassion, no sympathy, no sentiment" can be shown the slayers of Merrill Lovinger in a Newton home-robbery invasion, Governor Furcolo has obtained another respite for the three convicted murderers.

The Executive Council has acceded to Furcolo's request for another stay of the sentence to the electric chair imposed in Middlesex Superior Court on June 30, 1955.

The latest respite runs to Oct. 2.

In a letter to the Governor before the latest stay was granted the Attorney General strongly recommended that no executive clemency be extended and that the law be permitted to take its course.

The crime committed by Henry P. Arsenault, Jr., of Natick, Arthur L. Devlin and Russell P. LeBlanc of Waltham, the Attorney General argued was a "senseless, pointless, brutal crime." He said it was motivated by robbery.

In placing his recommendation before the Governor, Mr. Fингold used sharp and pointed language. Governor Furcolo did not mention the Attorney General's recommendation during the brief proceedings.

Refuse Ban on Dogs

Sharf of Chestnut Hill and William H. Prentice of Waban made a stout fight to save the controversial measure.

All three voted to send the matter back to committee, and they were joined by Aldermen John B. Davis of West Newton and Edwin A. Terkelsen of Newton Highlands.

After the motion to return the proposal to committee had been rebuffed by a 12-5 vote, only Powers and Sharf recorded themselves against killing the measure.

Newtonville's Alderman William R. Mattson, chairman of

VNA Staff Adds Two New Nurses

Miss Joanna Katz, former local girl, and Mrs. Barbara Fetteroll, who has been serving as a nurse in New Haven and New Britain, Conn., have been added to the staff of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association. Miss Katherine MacDonald, executive director announces.

Miss Katz, a Newton High and B. U. School of Nursing graduate, and Mrs. Fetteroll, who has worked with the Visiting Nurse Association in the two Connecticut cities, will bring the total staff membership of the Newton V.N.A. to 10.

Miss Katz will replace Miss Mary Jane LaFayette, who plans to move to the midwest. Mrs. Fetteroll is a graduate of St. Joseph College Department of Nursing.

The Visiting Nurse Association is a voluntary public health agency, supported by patient fees, Red Feather funds and other donations. It employs a staff of 10 registered nurses with special preparation in public health nursing.

The agency provides nursing care and physical therapy, under a physician's order, on a visit basis to the sick in their homes. Health education and instruction of members of the family in the care of patients and rehabilitation toward increased self-sufficient activity is part of the total program.

Any resident of Newton, with their doctor's permission, may obtain the services of a Visiting Nurse when needed by calling Bigelow 4-4880.

the claims and rules committee, in explaining the committee's adverse report at the outset of the debate, asserted that the suggested new ordinance would be "very difficult to enforce."

Sharf broke in to say that most public beaches have rules that dogs must be restrained on leashes and that he didn't see how a regulation covering playgrounds or school yards would be any more difficult to enforce.

Mattson replied that the police are rather reluctant to chase dogs and that Police Chief Purcell's department has neither the manpower nor the speed of foot to catch the stray canines which wander onto playgrounds.

Powers declared that he had observed numerous instances where children at play were bothered by dogs. He said a large number of youngsters also have been bitten by dogs and expressed the conviction that the proposal "has a good deal of merit."

President Wendell R. Bauckman of Newton Centre, presiding over the session, remarked that the city would need a larger and younger police force if its members are going to be required to catch dogs on playgrounds and in school yards.

When opponents of the measure maintained that the activities of dogs already are adequately controlled by an existing ordinance, Alderman Prentice asserted that the present regulations in the city merely cover barking and biting by dogs.

"I think we have a serious dog problem in this city," added Prentice who went on to say that Newton has a large dog population. He said that there are big dogs in the city which knock down elderly women and snapping dogs which bite children.

Alderman Charles H. Cosgrove said the ordinance now on the books providing for the restraining of dogs "which by barking, biting, howling or in any other manner disturb the public."

Powers said the purpose of the proposed new measure is to keep dogs out of places where children congregate and that this is not covered by existing laws.

Alderman Leo M. Cannon joined the argument and said there is a general law now on the statute books which empowers police to order dogs restrained and provides for the assessment of triple damages on any dog-owner whose pet causes injury or damage after it is ordered restrained.

A warning that the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations would be back in for a general ordinance if the measure under discussion was thrown out, was sounded by Alderman Prentice.

Sharf complained that the dogs roam over one playground to the detriment of children at play.

Alderman Harry H. Ham, Jr., of Auburndale declared that the claims and rules committee would like to legislate dogs off playgrounds but that for practical purposes it is impossible to do so.

Ham said the police have informed the Aldermen that they have no officers available to arrest dogs which trespass on playgrounds. He said there is the problem of identifying the offending dog and then ordering its owner into court.

"To say a dog can't go on a playground or into a school yard is to enact an ordinance which can't be enforced," exclaimed Ham.

Alderman Cannon obtained and read a copy of the general laws which allows police to order any dog, which is a source of annoyance, to be ordered restrained if complaints are made. He maintained that the present statute covers the problem.

Sharf disputed that statement, contending that the existing law does not cover the interference by dogs with children on playgrounds. The Chestnut Hill Alderman maintained that the adoption of the ordinance recommended by the

P.T.A. would discourage people from letting their dogs run free.

Cannon replied that the master could be taken care of if teachers, principals and the P.T.A. would make complaints to the police concerning the dogs which annoy children on playgrounds or in school yards.

Alderman William P. Ripley said that one woman, who favored the enactment of the ordinance, told the claims and rules committee that her daughter had been bitten by a dog. Ripley said it subsequently developed that the dog was leased at the time and that the girl was pestering the dog when she was bitten.

Powers challenged the statement that the proposed ordinance cannot be enforced. "If it can be done elsewhere, it can be done in Newton," contended Powers who added, however, that he did not believe the matter should be debated at 11:45 at night.

President Bauckman said the offending dogs which intrude on playgrounds and school yards are known by children and teachers but that nothing ever has been done to make complaints to police concerning them.

A short time later, just before midnight, the argument ended, and the measure was killed.

But supporters of the move to ban unleashed dogs from playgrounds, schoolyards and even classrooms declare that the matter is not dead and that more will be heard concerning it.

The Mills of Justice

On the night of Feb. 4, 1955, the public in the Greater Boston area was shocked by the story of how a brilliant young attorney had met death on the threshold of a promising career.

A bullet pierced his heart. The bullet came from a gun held in the hand of one of three hoodlums bent on robbery. They had forced their way into the home of Henry Mintz on Waverly avenue. They had made a mistake. They had planned to rob a different house.

When Merrill Lovinger stepped forward from another room to learn the cause of the commotion—a gun barked. Lovinger was silenced forever. The invaders fled.

Some brilliant, alert police work followed. Within a comparatively short time Newton police had the invaders in custody.

The public of the Greater Boston area amazed by a series of house invasions by hoodlum-gangmen found reason to be surprised. In this case the bandits had been captured.

The mills of justice ground swiftly, too.

The three arrested men heard themselves sentenced to die in the electric chair. The sentence was pronounced on June 30, 1955, less than two months after the crime.

The jury which had heard the case had refused to avail itself of an opportunity to recommend clemency and permit the three defendants to escape the chair.

The mills of justice ground swiftly between crime and sentence.

Now, however, two years have lapsed. The three convicted men have just obtained another respite.

It is quite possible that their cases may remain before the courts and before Governor Furcolo and his Executive Council for many months to come.

It is quite possible, too, that the sentence pronounced June 30, 1955 may never be carried out.

In the long interim during which capital punishment has been virtually abrogated in Massachusetts—10 years have passed. During that decade the people have been given an excellent example of how mills of justice can be slowed down to the slowest of ponderously slow movement.

Why Not Rehabilitate TV?

A very conscientious legislator who has been doing a lot of worrying, proposes legislation which would un-pamper some over-pampered juveniles.

He'd like to have mandatory five-year sentences tagged on the likes of those foolish-looking, teen-aged crumps of humanity who go around in phony black leather jackets, carry spring-propelled knife blades and guns. He'd have the courts take a much more serious second-look at the auto-thieves and the devotees of souped-up wrecks rescued from automobile graveyards.

He thinks they make the nights hideous, too often. He thinks their attacks—their robberies—their extra-social conduct should be curbed.

We think so, too.

But we don't think Senator Parker will succeed in eliminating them even if he gets his late-session bill passed by the Legislature.

First of all, there'll always be a lot of people who will insist the poor boys be rehabilitated. Pick up any book or magazine article on penology these days and you'll find they want to rehabilitate the hardest of criminals, the most vicious of murderers.

Besides, if we send the zip-knife kids away in mandatory fashion after second offenses, as Senator Parker urges, it will be only to Concord or some other place where they'll be taking post-graduate courses in the nefarious ways of life.

Even as one segment of our do-gooders are striving to get them out and start rehabilitating them—whatever that means—the boys will be learning new and better ways of crime to use when the jail door swings open.

Senator Parker's intentions are good. His prescription just won't work out.

The so-called juvenile delinquency program goes pretty deep. Wherever it takes its seed it will find itself nurtured unconsciously by the do-gooders who've made the juvenile courts and our probation systems just a little red-tape romp for the offenders.

Under our mid-20th Century methods of dealing with the problem—the courts and the probation systems are concerned with getting the offender "back to normal" as quickly as possible. Normalcy usually means a return to his old habits with a lesson to keep as clear of the law as he can.

The old woodshed philosophy of a punishment that befit the crime was just tossed out the window.

Until the public attitude changes the juvenile delinquency problem will remain with us. Basically, the public can blame itself.

Take an example of your own complacency. Turn on your TV tonight. Or any night for that matter. Even on a Sunday night. What's the fare?

With a very few exceptions—and during the summer months, you can count those exceptions on the fingers of one hand—the fare is CRIME—ROBBERY—VIOLENCE.

All the new-fangled ideas of crime, robbery and violence are detailed for you. Guns are blasting bullets all night. Knives are being sunk into human anatomies.

If you can sit there and take it the only relief you will get will be the absurd commercials they throw in for breathers—and dollars.

What do you do? You turn to another station—only to find someone has just got his head bashed in a dark alley.

You become fed up and snap off the TV.

You don't stop to realize that the cesspools of crime which TV producers nightly make of your TV screen are supposedly the work of adults. You don't stop to realize those adults are giving you what they think is a normal, broad segment of American life.

You don't stop to realize that a very large number of viewers are complacently viewing this low-grade "entertainment" and accepting it as something that's an important and necessary part of life in 1957 in the United States.

TV claims millions of viewers for those "entertainments" every night in the week. Can there be any justified question that they have no effect on immature minds?

We sympathize with Senator Parker. But the avenues he is exploring now have all been explored before. We think he might accomplish much more by coming down from the top.

He could start, for instance, with the misguided do-gooders and the "adults" who think crime is "entertainment." The do-gooders will shout loudly about damage to rehabilitation programs that don't rehabilitate. The "adults" will scream censorship.

Yet, when you think it over why can't we start a nice nation-wide campaign to rehabilitate the do-gooders and the adults?

State Withholding Tax Seen As Substitute for Sales Tax

It appears fairly certain that we're going to get a State withholding income tax whether or not we get a sales tax. And to many persons, particularly businessmen, the withholding tax may prove a bigger headache than the sales tax would have been.

Ordinarily, the members of the Massachusetts Legislature would recoil from the idea of enacting a State withholding tax.

It is a proposed new law which would put another bite—however small—in the weekly pay envelope of the average worker. That is something most legislators do only with very great reluctance.

Yet, the withholding tax bill is sailing a calm, steady course through the Legislature, seemingly on its way to enactment.

Why? Because a substantial number of legislators feel the adoption of a withholding tax would be one more reason to justify voting against the sales tax bill, and the sales tax measure for months has been a political bugaboo which cast a big, black shadow over Beacon Hill.

If Governor Furcolo had never advocated a sales tax and had not touched off the controversy which has raged for six full months, the withholding tax bill unquestionably would have been dropped into the nearest waste basket.

But Furcolo did seek a sales tax, and one of the strange by-products of that action from all indications is going to be a State withholding tax.

A great many legislators obviously have been afraid of the political consequences of voting for a sales tax. Some of them, paradoxically, also have been apprehensive as to the consequences of voting against a sales tax.

The adoption of a State withholding tax will help to bail them out. They can say, if they wish, that one of the reasons they voted against a sales tax was that they wanted to wait and see how much additional revenue the withholding tax would produce.

That's an old dodge. Whenever a highly controversial issue is up for decision, one way out is to say you're provisionally against it because you're waiting to see what will happen on something else.

Will anything be done about the tax-dodgers who are exposed by the proposed new system?

Will anything be done about their sins of omission and their slight absent-mindedness in forgetting the little detail of filing an income tax return?

Will they be made to pay up any part of the money out of which they have cheated the Commonwealth and the rest of the people of Massachusetts?

Will they be prosecuted for their tax evasion?

Or will they be welcomed into the tax fold like prodigal sons coming home after the law made it impossible for them to cheat the State any longer?

That is something which honest taxpayers who have been dutifully making their tax returns back through the years have a right to know.

There's also a financial gimmick to this proposed withholding system which is somewhat similar to the sleight-of-hand financing Paul A. Dever employed when he wiped out the old plan of paying the State income taxes in two installments and in so doing collected 18 months' taxes in period of 12 months.

Under the contemplated withholding tax law, as we understand it, the wage-earners of Massachusetts will begin paying their 1958 State income taxes several months before they pay their taxes for 1957.

When the federal government put in its withholding tax system some years ago, it wiped out the taxes for the preceding year and started with a clean slate.

There is no likelihood that the State will indulge in any such fair or equitable gesture.

LETTERS

Dem. Committeeman Against Tax Principle

The Newton Graphic
Newton, Mass.
Editor
Dear Sir:

In your last issue of July 11, 1957 your political columnist, Mr. James G. Colbert said in part . . . "And we have yet to meet one person outside the Legislature or the official councils of organized labor who is violently opposed to the basic principle of a sales tax."

This simply demonstrates that Mr. Colbert does not know enough people. For, there are a great many who are opposed to the principle of a sales tax and quite a few of them testified to that effect at the public hearings held at the State House.

I am a businessman and a Democratic Committeeman of Ward 5 and am opposed to the basic principle of a sales tax because:

1. It is unfair because it is not based on the principle of ability to pay and puts a disproportionate burden upon the people with low incomes.
2. It is an inefficient and wasteful method of tax collection.
3. It would hurt and tend to decrease Massachusetts business.

I sincerely hope that by the time this letter reaches you the sales tax will be completely defeated once and for all.

Sincerely,
Jerome Grossman
115 Dorset Road
Waban 68, Mass.

Editor, Newton Graphic,
Newton, Mass.

I wish to express to you and the staff the heartfelt appreciation of the officers and campaign workers for the wonderful cooperation your newspaper gave us during our 1957 Combined Jewish Appeal Campaign.

As this was our first experience with a Spring campaign after 61 years of Fall drives, we approached our 1957 activities with a great deal of hope tempered by anxiety. We had just concluded a difficult campaign in 1956 and we were quite apprehensive about the reaction to the State will do about the tax-dodgers who are exposed by the proposed new system.

Will anything be done about their sins of omission and their slight absent-mindedness in forgetting the little detail of filing an income tax return?

Will they be made to pay up any part of the money out of which they have cheated the Commonwealth and the rest of the people of Massachusetts?

Will they be prosecuted for their tax evasion?

Or will they be welcomed into the tax fold like prodigal sons coming home after the law made it impossible for them to cheat the State any longer?

That is something which honest taxpayers who have been dutifully making their tax returns back through the years have a right to know.

There's also a financial gimmick to this proposed withholding system which is somewhat similar to the sleight-of-hand financing Paul A. Dever employed when he wiped out the old plan of paying the State income taxes in two installments and in so doing collected 18 months' taxes in period of 12 months.

Under the contemplated withholding tax law, as we understand it, the wage-earners of Massachusetts will begin paying their 1958 State income taxes several months before they pay their taxes for 1957.

When the federal government put in its withholding tax system some years ago, it wiped out the taxes for the preceding year and started with a clean slate.

There is no likelihood that the State will indulge in any such fair or equitable gesture.

That doesn't make much sense, and when the business men of Massachusetts wake up to the realization of the expense that the suggested withholding system will impose on them, there are likely to be cries of anguish ringing out across the Commonwealth.

The withholding tax bill was filed by State Senator Donald Gibbs of Newton who is as sincere and conscientious a legislator as there is on Beacon Hill. In fairness to Senator Gibbs, it should be stated that there may be one strong justification for the law he proposes.

The State withholding tax would be warranted if tax-dodgers are cheating the Commonwealth out of millions and millions of dollars annually by filing no returns whatever when they should be turning a small percentage of their earnings into the State treasury.

That appears to be the shocking fact. But if it is, it's contrary to what the men responsible for the collection of State taxes have been telling the public.

State tax officials declared earlier in the year that they were gradually running the tax-dodgers into the ground and were collecting taxes from people who never had paid them before.

They said they were doing this by matching the cards filed by employers against the returns of the employees and through the use of a mechanical monster which supposedly was death on tax-dodgers.

The arguments advanced in favor of the State withholding tax system certainly leave the implication that the so-called mechanical monster and the matching card system aren't as efficient and infallible as we had believed they are.

If they were, there would be no need for a State withholding tax.

And if the withholding system is going to produce the additional millions of dollars that its supporters say it will, that money will have to come out of the pockets of the tax-dodgers because the people who have been honestly paying their State income taxes year after year aren't going to pay any more. They're just going to make their payments weekly instead of once a year.

It's well to keep in mind, too, that it is going to cost the State a lot of money to collect whatever additional taxes it realizes from the withholding system.

Not only is the withholding system going to mean increased cost and headaches for business firms, it's also going to mean higher operating expenses for the State Department of taxation.

That department obviously is going to need more employees to process withholding returns than to handle the returns filed once a year. This probably will be an opportunity to load up the State payroll on the ground that the additional expense will come out of new taxes.

Since both employers and employees are going to be put to some inconvenience by a law which is designed to force dishonest persons to pay the taxes they rightfully owe, it would be interesting to know what, if any-of the community to a spring campaign, especially since we also had to appeal for funds for the Emergency Rescue Fund to help move 100,000 victims of Communism and Nasserism to lands of freedom, including Israel.

Thanks chiefly to the excellent interpretation of the reasons that led to the change-over, namely a desire to avoid overlapping of campaign dates with the Red Feather, and the generous coverage of all our campaign activities, the community responded magnificently.

By the fine cooperation of your newspaper you have demonstrated not only your interest in worthwhile causes but to us the priceless value of a free press.

Finally, may I also take this opportunity to thank all men and women in your community who worked so diligently at my side and to all those who responded with such warmth and understanding to our appeal for help.

Editor, Newton Graphic:

To look around Newton on the glorious fourth, you would never believe it was a national holiday and the celebration of this country's independence. I saw one flag flying at a private home. You would think we were all getting ready to move to some other country.

The P. O. and fire buildings had no flags, and the best flag poles in the city at Newton Centre were bare. If there is one day in the year the flags should be flying, it is the fourth and it was depressing so little notice is taken.

License For Nursing Home Is Renewed

A license for a nursing home operated at 399 Newtonville ave. Since then other owners reported their cars had been similarly sprayed with bright yellow paint. Complaints came from Stanley Nelson, 43 Evergreen avenue; Richard Fitzpatrick and Philip Fitzpatrick, 68 Hancock avenue; Richard Emmets, 522 Grove street, Newton Lower Falls; Julie Kaufman, 185 Gibbs street, Newton Centre, and Dr. Alan Ziskind of 24 Concord avenue, Cambridge. The doctor's car, he said, was near 34 Brentwood avenue, when it was sprayed.

Maurice M. Welling of 27 Clinton street, Brookline, Jordan Alperin, 950 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, and Dr. Samue Kaplan, 38 Hyde street, Newton Highlands, also reported their cars had been sprayed. Walling's car was parked near 107 Garland road, Newton Centre, when the vandals sprayed it.

Chief Philip Purcell issued an order to his department to "make every effort to apprehend and prosecute those responsible for spraying paint on cars. Officers are to check schools, public buildings and playgrounds to prevent vandalism."

merchant at 147 South street, in the South end of Boston. Fisher's body had five stab wounds.

The discovery of the knife of a type commonly used in cutting leather is the latest clue. It was found Monday in a spool of rope on the floor against the wall of the office about 40 feet from where Fisher's body was lying. The knife apparently had been discarded.

Lieut. Joseph F. Doyle and Detective Sergeant Louis Pinofsky of the Boston Homicide Squad found the knife. However, they said it did not appear to have bloodstains on the blade. Nevertheless, it was sent to the police chemist for thorough examination.

What has been considered the most significant clue thus far is the statement of the young woman about the words she overheard between Fisher and the "tall, thin man".

The "tall, thin man" has not yet been found by police. However, investigators believe they know his identity and assert the man owed Mr. Fisher money and had been trying to borrow more.

Fisher operated the Fisher Leather Company with his brother, Samuel. He was found dead by his son, Marvin, who had gone looking for him.

The workers couldn't leave, so it was up to the bees.

Arthur M. Southwick, superintendent of boat locks and draw bridges for the Metropolitan District Commission, just happens to know about bees. He's former president of the Middlesex County Beekeeper's Association and helped set up the Bee Exhibit at the Museum of Science three years ago.

No matter what his neighbors may think, he big-heartedly volunteered to give the bees a home in his home in Newton. They have their own glassed-enclosed hive in the attic and it has a direct connection to the outdoors.

Says Mr. Southwick: "When they go out, they have to mark their new location. They fly backwards and note all the surroundings to the hive entrance and all the landmarks along their way."

"In a week or two, they'll forget all about their old location at the Museum."

Mr. Southwick says his observation is that the bees are very happy with their Newton surroundings.

At the Museum of Science the Observation Bee Hive is being reserved for their return.

And to Newtonites: Don't swat them. You'll get the worst of it.

Henry Mintz on Waverly avenue, Newton. Evidence established they had picked the wrong house and the wrong victim. Merrill Lovinger, a young Cambridge attorney, was shot and killed.

The three dissenting Aldermen — Leo M. Cannon, Charles H. Cosgrove and Edwin A. Terkelson — explained that they were not against the continued operation of the nursing home but that they felt it should be allowed to raise its capacity by 10 to 14 patients.

However, a majority of the board members voted to continue the existing limitation of 10 patients. Alderman William R. Mattison, chairman of the claims and rules committee which considered the application, said there was a question in his mind whether it was advisable "to crowd in another four patients."

The Board of Aldermen voted to accept a recommendation by the State Department of Public Health and issue licenses for nursing and convalescent homes for a two-year period instead of a single year as in the past.

small measure to the rejection of a bill sponsored by Governor Furcolo himself.

In what most of his listeners took to be his inaugural address, the Governor asked that the question of whether or not the State should retain capital punishment be put up to a referendum of the people. One of the bills entered in the legislative hopper was a proposal to let the voters of the State express their opinion on the matter in the 1958 State election.

After proponents of the Furcolo-approved bill had appeared before a committee Lovinger's mother was called. A quiet, sad-faced, motherly woman appeared to tell of the slaying.

One by one she related the mementoes of the young man whom she had born and reared to the threshold of a promising career in law. She proved a most effective witness.

Until her appearance it had been anticipated the bill would have easy sailing. It was predicted that until an expression of the State's voters through the proposed referendum had been obtained, the electric chair — unused for 10 years — would remain something confined to the State's law books.

In event of favorable action on this—a pet bill of the Governor—he would be justified, it was felt in holding up any executions scheduled in the meantime.

However, after the victim's mother appeared and related her story in about five minutes, the Furcolo-sponsored bill was killed, with finality. Killed with it by the present session have been several other bills connected with change in the capital punishment code.

Only measure to survive—and that in a very close vote—is one calling for another study of the entire question of capital punishment in the State.

Lovinger, at the time a recent bridegroom, had been visiting at the home of his father-in-law, Henry Mintz, on Waverly avenue, when the slayers entered.

He was in another part of the house when the armed men confronted the women in the house but when he stepped into the room to learn what was going on he was shot and killed. The invaders fled.

In a brilliant piece of alert police work all were in custody of Newton police within less than two hours.

In the police questioning and subsequent trial it developed the invaders had made a mistake. They had not planned to enter the Mintz home for robbery but the home of a neighbor instead.

Since the first term of Paul Dever as Governor a number of persons have been sentenced to die in the electric chair in Massachusetts. No one has been executed, however, because in each case subsequent executive or court action has been used to set aside the death sentences.

West Newton Man Heads Intergroup Relations Council

M. Jacob Joslow of West Newton, executive director of the American Jewish Congress' regional office in Boston, has been elected chairman of the Intergroup Relations Council of Greater Boston. He succeeds Dr. Stephen R. Deane of Simmons College.

Mr. Joslow is a former high school principal and teacher in Ludlow, Mass., a former newspaper editor in Springfield and during World War II did overseas Displaced Persons relief service for the Joint Distribution Committee.

Purpose of the Intergroup Relations Council is to serve as a central clearing house on problems of human relations and intergroup situations; to act as a speakers' bureau, film and material distributor, and consultant service on intergroup relations; and to act as a calendar of human relations and intergroup relations events.

Home from Conference

MISS VIVIAN WILLE

Announce Troth Of Vivian Wille

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joseph Wille, of New Rochelle, New York, announce the engagement of their daughter, Vivian Barbara, of Newton Centre, to Colin Livingstone Wheeler, of Nahant, son of Mrs. William Joseph Wheeler and the late Rear Admiral Wheeler, United States Coast Guard, of Norfolk, Virginia.

Miss Wille is a graduate of Wellesley College and is affiliated with the U. S. Army Quartermaster Research and Development command, Natick.

Mr. Wheeler is a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and is employed as an engineer with the Instrument Department of General Electric Company, Lynn. He served with the U. S. Army in the Far East theater.

An early Fall wedding is planned.

Big Jewish Labor Outing July 27-28 At Framingham

Jacob Rottenberg of Newton, a representative of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, is local area arrangements committee chairman for the Jewish Labor Committee's annual week-end outing at Workmen's Circle Camp, Framingham, July 27-28.

Several hundred members and friends of labor unions, Workmen's Circle branches, and fraternal and cultural organizations affiliated with the J.L.C. will attend.

Special entertainment programs have been arranged. The J.L.C.'s executive board will hold its quarterly meeting July 28.

Guest speaker will be Benjamin Tabachinsky of New York, national campaign director of the J.L.C.

The popular Israeli musical team of Sarah and Hayim Fersko, mezzo soprano and pianist will be featured in a program of Yiddish, Hebrew and English folk songs. The annual outing program is open to the public.

There will be 12 players involved in the boys singles and doubles, as was the case in last year's program. This year there will be a girls entry list as well.

Canada plans to send four of its top junior class girls. They will engage in three singles and two doubles with the four best New England can produce.

Through the courtesy of Hart Fessenden, the facilities of the Fessenden School, West Newton, will be made available to the visitors.

Jack Lynch, former Newton High star and 1948 New England singles champ is the New England team's coach. The New England team defeated the Canadian team at Ottawa under Lynch last year.

W. W. Hoblitzell III, former Newtonite and now chairman of these international matches, believes that this year's players are 25 per cent stronger than last season. Boys invited to two-day tryouts got their invitations on the basis of their recognized ability and their play during the last year.

Water Pressure Project Finished

A new 12-inch, 4500-foot water main which runs from Boylston street, near Duxbury road, Newton Centre, to the 16-inch main in Dedham street, near the entrance to the Charles River Country Club, was completed and opened last week.

It was the last major installation in Newton's two-year $750,000 water pressure improvement program—and residents were agreed it couldn't have happened at a better time because of the long drought.

The big program was designed to overcome pressure difficulties at peak hours.

Boy Burglar Scared Away

A boy who attempted to break into Cosman's Market at 173 Pearl st., was frightened away when John Bartlett shouted at him from a window in the same building. Police who were summoned, after the youth ran away, found that he had broken two windows in his attempts to get into the market.

Julian Roberts Turned Down As Constable

By a vote of 8-7 the Board of Aldermen this week rejected a recommendation by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., that Julian Roberts of 31 Cherry street, be appointed a city constable.

A special committee comprised of Aldermen Charles F. Hovey of Chestnut Hill, Harry H. Ham, Jr., of Auburndale and Leo M. Cannon of Newton unanimously opposed the appointment.

Alderman Earle D. Wood of Auburndale, opposing the committee's report and urging the confirmation of Roberts, declared that the appointment had been requested by the city tax collector and that the constable was to assist in the collection of taxes.

The 8-7 vote rejecting the appointment was cast by a secret ballot.

Deaths

John F. Farrington

John Fish Farrington, 62, of 19 Maynard street, West Newton, died suddenly of a coronary heart seizure, Friday night, July 5, at his summer home in Centre Harbor, N. H.

Mr. Farrington, with Rayton Manufacturing Company since 1941, was an electrical engineer, serving as manager of the circuit development department at the Bedford, Mass., Laboratory at the time of his death.

A graduate of the Bliss Electrical Engineering College, Washington, D. C., Mr. Farrington had previously been with the Hazeltine Corporation, International Telephone & Telegraph, American Telephone & Telegraph.

Mr. Farrington had the distinction of being one of the 13 Fellows of the Institute of Radio Electrical Engineers in the United States. He was one of the leading authorities on electronic received circuits, one of the developers of ship-to-shore radio and holder of several radio and electronic receiver patents.

Mr. Farrington was also a prominent member of the Newtonville Methodist Church, serving on the official board, the music committee and the membership committee.

Mr. Farrington leaves his wife, the former Ethel Horton of West Newton, and one son, John Horton Farrington, of Gilford, N. H. Services were held at the Arthur C. Simoneau Chapel in Laconia, N. H., at 2 o'clock Monday, July 8, with the Reverend Hamilton Gifford of the Newtonville Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in the Bayside Cemetery at Laconia.

Distinguished associates attending the services were Thomas L. Phillips, manager of the Bedford Laboratory; David D. Coffin, assistant vice president of Bedford operations, and representatives from the Wayland Raytheon Laboratory, the Bedford Laboratory and the Waltham, Newton and Lowell plants.

Serving as pall bearers were John Delaney, Robert Edgerton, Charles Mason, John Poulas, Robert Arnesan and William Murphy.

Max Kattwinkel

Services were held last week at 2 p.m. in the chapel of the Newton Cemetery for Max Kattwinkel, 84, father of Rep. Irene K. Thresher of Waban and Dr. Egon E. Kattwinkel of West Newton, who died at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital July 8.

Mr. Kattwinkel was director of research at the William F. Schrafft Co. in Charlestown for 23 years, and worked actively at his job until 10 days before his death. He and his wife, who survives him, made their home in Waban. They came to the United States from Germany in 1906, and to Newton from Stamford, Conn., in 1920. They were members of the Union Church in Waban.

Besides his wife, daughter and son, he is survived by seven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

AAA Speaker At Rotary Club

Robert Kretschmar of the American Automobile Association was the speaker at the recent meeting of the Newton Rotary Club, outlining the policies and aims of the Triple A, as a civic, non-profit organization.

He pointed out that the organization serves as legal aid to members, posting bail when necessary and spends more money on safety than any other organization. It is among the 20 top publishers of literature in the world, he said. He drew a parallel between the AAA and the Rotary Clubs, saying both organizations are built on service and were supplying a need.

Ens. and Mrs. Richard Field To Make Home In California

White snapdragons, gladioli and delphinium adorned the altar of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church at the candle light ceremony that united Miss Diane MacLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas S. MacLean of Newton Highlands, with Ensign Richard Hildreth Field on Saturday, June 29.

The Rev. Frederic Groetsema, D.D., performed the seventy-third ceremony, for which two rings were exchanged. Serving as acolytes at the altar were Douglas P. MacLean, brother of the bride, and Robert Field, brother of the groom. A reception followed the ceremony in the parish house.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of Dupioni silk, fashioned with a molded bodice yoked in Alencon lace, a sequin-trimmed Sabrina neckline and a wide chapel train. Her veil of finger-tip illusion fell from a cap of Alencon lace embroidered with pearls and sequins, and she carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Marilyn MacLean of Newton Highlands, while Mrs. D. James Gilmour of Lakewood, Calif., sister of the groom, was honorary matron of honor. The other attendants were Mrs. Frederick Levin of Brooklyn, a cousin of the bride, Miss Nancy Greene of Ashland, Mass., and Miss Sally Tripp of Glenside, Pa. Honorary bridesmaids were Miss Sara Lee Martyn of Eau Gallie, Fla., and Mrs. Kent R. Grooto of Truk Island, U. S. Territory.

Serving as ushers were Mr. John B. Rijsnaes of Manchester, N. H., Mr. Paul I. Whetton of Needham, Mass., Mr. Norman L. Cummings of Auburn, Mass., and Mr. John F. Weeks, Jr., of Laconia, N. H.

The bride received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of New Hampshire where she was a member of the Chi Omega sorority. Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland M. Field of Anaheim, Calif., holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of New Hampshire and was a member of the Acacia fraternity there.

Following a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mr. and Mrs. Field will motor to the West Coast to make their home in Post Henne, Calif.

Baby Bitten By Dog

Two-year-old Alan Isger of 40 Fox Hill road, was treated at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital after being bitten on the forehead by a dog owned by a neighbor.

Candlelight Service Unites Miss Marinus, Mr. Osterlund

Mrs. Karl August Osterlund, the former Audrey Louise Marinus, was given in marriage by her father Adrian Marinus of Newton Highlands at a candlelight service in the Wellesley Hills Unitarian Church Saturday, June 22 at 7:30 p.m. Dr. William B. Rice officiated.

The bride's floor length gown was of white lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The scoop neckline of lace applique on lace was decorated with seed pearls and sequins with tiny buttons to below the waistline which was bordered with scallops. The puffed skirt was appliqued with lace. She wore her sister's headress — a fluted brim of pleated nylon tulle with lace applique, sequins and pearl beads to hold a waist-length veil. The bouquet was fastened with white orchids and stephanotis.

Mr. James McCune of Pittsburgh, Penn., brother-in-law of the bride was best man for Mr. Osterlund. The ushers were Mr. Wiley Mitchell of Arlington and Mr. William Richardson of Watertown.

The music for the wedding was furnished by Mrs. Shirley MacCloskey, organist, and Mrs. Marian Haynes, soloist, who sang "The Day of Golden Promise" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Osterlund is a graduate of Barnard College of Columbia University. Mr. Osterlund, son of Mrs. August P. Osterlund of Wellesley and the late August P. Osterlund is a graduate of Northeastern School of Business Administration.

Urge Youths Here Become Tennis Greats

If C. Evan Johnson, Newton's Recreation Commissioner, can possibly do it, some of the nation's future tennis greats — both young men and women — will come from this city.

He's sparking a drive to make tennis in Newton even more popular than it is at the present.

With 43 municipal tennis courts located in playground areas in Newton, Commissioner Johnson is stressing that tennis is a great game for training in life.

He has distributed to all recreation leaders and interested children on Newton's 32 playgrounds copies of a booklet presented by the Tennis Education Foundation and the United States Lawn Tennis Association in conjunction with President Eisenhower's Youth Fitness Program.

The booklets were made available by the Wilson Sporting Goods Co. in Newton Highlands through its local distributor, Al Rogan's Sporting Goods Shop in Newton Centre.

It is a 16-page booklet and illustrates by cartoons, description and example objectively that tennis is a great game to develop physical fitness and promotes enjoyable use of youthful leisure time by developing the four basic drives of most sports—speed, stamina and skill.

Tennis is not a sissified game and the booklet points out that boys and girls in the 10-14 year age bracket should realize these facts. Cartoons showing champions in boxing like Gene Tunney, Ralph Kiner in baseball, Red Sanders, coach of the University football team and track stars, all are agreed that tennis is one of the finest conditioning sports.

Commissioner Johnson is encouraging children to take up tennis, points out that Newton's 43 municipal tennis courts are located on the following playground areas:

Clay Courts: Angier, 3; Newton Centre, 5; Burr 4; Cabot 2; Hawthorn 2; Highlands 3; Lower Falls 2; Upper Falls 2; Auburndale 2; High School 5.

Black Top Courts: Wellington 2; Memorial 2; Weeks Jr. High 2; Warren Jr. High 3; High School 4.

All playground areas have posted the following Tennis Notice:

"Tennis Tips — Let's Cooperate

"Tennis, as an International Sport follows certain basic standards or rules of sportsmanship, behavior and dress.

"All players will benefit by the strict observance of the basic rules and the following regulations.

"1. Read and follow the posted detailed regulations governing the use of Tennis Courts.

"2. All players should purchase a permit at the Recreation Office, City Hall, or from the Recreation Leader at the Playground.

"3. Tennis shoes (smooth sole) must be worn at all times. Heeled shoes are prohibited.

"4. Proper tennis costume must be worn at all times. For men—T-shirt, sport shirt or equivalent. For women—complete dress—skirt and blouse or equivalent.

"5. Applause is always appreciated. Loud voices and boisterousness are considered objectionable and unsportsmanlike.

"6. This permit is granted with the understanding that the holder will at all times abide by the basic rules and standards governing the use of tennis courts.

"Thank you for your cooperation.

"C. EVAN JOHNSON,
"Recreation Commissioner."

"Establishment of a new Canadian company, of which Milton W. Heath of 1835 Beacon st., Waban, is president, and the opening of an office in Canada is announced by Heath Survey Consultants, Inc., Wellesley.

According to Heath, the new Canadian company "has been formed to meet the increased needs of gas companies in Canada. Current and proposed expansion of Canada gas utilities, brought about by the great Canadian increase in use of natural gas, has necessitated an increasing need for leakage control work which will make possible the safest and most economical distribution of this product—Gas."

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, July 21, 22 and 23, "Bachelor Party," starring Don Murray and E. G. Marshall. Also on the same program, "The Iron Sheriff," starring Sterling Hayden and Constance Ford.

Box office opens at 7 p.m.

Show is continuous from dusk.

Observes 100th Birthday Here

July 11, Mrs. Mary Sophia Mansfield celebrated her one hundredth birthday. Born at Sugar Hill, New Hampshire, she lived in Westminster, Mass., for a number of years, and then made her home for seven years with her niece, Mrs. Raymond W. Scribner of Newton Highlands.

Her party, which was planned by her niece, was held at a Nursing Home in Newton where she was surrounded by many lovely floral tributes, a beautiful cake, many gifts and a few friends.

Newton Not to Drop Chest X-Ray Program

The policy of giving chest X-rays to selective groups will be continued by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The announcement was forthcoming following a statement by Dr. Floyd M. Feldmann, medical director of the National Tuberculosis Association, that benefits derived by selective use of X-ray equipment for the diagnosis and treatment of illness far exceeds the danger that may be involved in radiation exposure involved in the use of X-ray machines.

B. U. Professor To Preach Here

Professor L. Harold DeWolf of the Boston University School of Theology will be the preacher at the Newton Union Summer Service, Sunday, July 21, at 11 o'clock. The services will be at the Second Church in Newton, West Newton.

Professor DeWolf's topic will be "The Greatest of These."

He has been a member of the Boston University faculty since 1934 and has been a professor of Systematic Theology since 1944. He is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University and Boston University where he received his Ph.D. in 1935.

He holds an honorary S.T.D. degree from Nebraska Wesleyan.

Dr. DeWolf is also a member of the Methodist New England Southern Conference and has held pastorate for 13 years. In 1955-56 he worked in theological education in Central and East Africa under the National Council of Churches and other agencies.

A resident of Newton, he is the author of several books, articles and book reviews on religion, philosophy, psychology and education.

Music for this service will be provided by Iva Sjostrom, organist, and the quartet.

On July 28, the preacher at the union service will be Dr. Edward Mabthel of Western Springs, Ill.

Boy Scout Writes In Graphic About Exciting Jamboree

(The following article on the Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge was sent to The Newton Graphic by Rowley Elliston of Troop 7.)

By ROWLEY ELLISTON

On Thursday, July 11, we arrived at Valley Forge at 4:00 p.m. Everyone piled his pack on the trucks for all to assemble. In addition to some fine speeches, we saw a pageant depicting the history of Valley Forge and a stupendous fireworks display. We went to sleep that evening feeling happy, tired and excited.

150 Girls Enjoy Activities at Quabbin Camp

Nature study, cook-outs, swimming, handcraft, folk dancing, games and singing have been part of the program enjoyed by one hundred fifty girls at Quabbin Day Camp. The camp is sponsored by the Newton Girl Scout Council.

Last Thursday marked the closing of the first encampment. The girls "journeyed" to "Storyland" to enjoy the dramatizations of "Peter Pan," "The Sleeping Beauty," "Robinhood," "Three Little Pigs," "The Toy Shop," and other well-known stories. The costumes and properties, as well as the scripts, had been prepared by the girls in their units. A staff of twenty-two counselors help direct the activities of the ten units. Following is a list of the Unit Leaders and Assistant Unit Leaders who are making such a program possible for these girls: Mrs. Pam Morang, Mrs. Edith DiRusso, Mrs. Zelda Glazier, Mrs. Florence Wilde, Mrs. Alice Jacobson, Mrs. Bonnie Clinton, Mrs. Lillian DiPasquale, Mrs. Phyllis Roth, Mrs. Marjorie Burns, Mrs. Thelma Shuman, Mrs. Barbara Lilly, Mrs. Julia Hanks, Mrs. Jean Sudhalter, Mrs. Hilda Aremberg, Mrs. Margery Trowbridge, Mrs. Dorothy Blomquist, Mrs. Jeanette Brody, Mrs. Mildred Axelrod and Miss Jane Bugbee. Mrs. Grace Lepore is program director and Mrs. Mildred Alban is administrative director. The waterfront is in charge of Mrs. Maxine Kumin and Mrs. Janet Eschenauer with Mrs. Bernice Hurwitz assisting.

Friday evening was our first hot meal here, and we struggled for an hour getting it ready. That made us a little late, and we hardly had time to clean up and get ready for the giant parade to the amphitheater. We left our campsite parading four abreast, and as we proceeded we were joined by similar groups as we passed other campsites, until we were marching sixty-four abreast when we entered the amphitheater. There were many such long columns of Scouts converging upon the huge arena from many directions. The audience numbered per-

Newton Savings Bank Pays Over Million in Dividends

Newton Savings Bank paid over $1 million in dividends to more than 60,000 depositors for the six-month period ending July 10, it was announced by President Joseph Earl Perry.

According to Donald P. Frail, vice treasurer and comptroller, this is the 255th consecutive regular dividend paid to depositors by Newton Savings. Since the founding of the bank in 1829, over $35,800,000 in dividends have been paid to depositors. The bank has never missed a dividend payment and has always paid every depositor the full amount of account balance on demand.

President Perry further stated that the recent addition of a sixth office and continued increase in helpfulness created optimism for even greater future earnings.

Of course it takes character to save

Practically everybody on earth is out to help you SPEND money. Everybody is tempting you to BUY and making it easy for you to SPEND. Watertown Federal, almost alone, is here to help you SAVE.

If you'll hurry and put part of every dollar you receive into Watertown Federal, you'll soon enjoy the possession of a real reserve pile of beautiful dollars.

Watertown Federal makes saving's tempting to you by providing their beautiful new "saving headquarters" with Thursday evening hours, and with an outdoor walk-up window with earlier and later hours than usual, and with a big free parking area for customers' cars.

All Bathing Spots In Newton Get Official Health Dept. OK

There's something to be happy about during the prolonged hot spell—all of Newton's bathing spots, including treated pools and natural bathing areas, are free of contamination and have received an official O.K. from the Newton Health Department.

Of further interest to the public, samples of water are being taken weekly at Crystal Lake, Newton Centre; Hendrick's Bridge, Newton Highlands, and at various pools. All the samples are tested and all have proved satisfactory.

Strange Things Happen In Heat Wave; 'Dead Man' In Car Snoozing

It was hot in Newton this week, and some strange things happened as Garden City residents tried to keep cool in the midst of a searing, mid-summer heat wave.

Police were notified, for example, that a man was slumped under the wheel of his automobile at Beacon and Summer

A sentence of 10 days in the House of Correction was imposed on James H. Murphy, 18, of 100 Los Angeles street, Newton, by Judge Frederic A. Crafts in Newton District Court on a charge of kicking a dog on a city playground.

Murphy pleaded innocent.

Witnesses against him included Patrolman William L. Whelan and Louis J. Cedrone.

Lt. Purcell On Way To Spain

Navy Lieutenant John P. Purcell, son of Newton Police Chief and Mrs. Philip Purcell, has been assigned to duty in Barcelona, Spain, and will report there on Thursday of next week.

A graduate of the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy in the class of 1952, Purcell served as a cadet aboard the U.S.S. America on transatlantic crossings and as second officer aboard Robin Line ships on runs to South Africa.

He was activated into the Navy from the Reserves two years ago and has just completed a seven-months tour of duty in Newport. Purcell was promoted to the rank of full lieutenant last September.

Teen-Age Youths Arrested For Attempted Breaks

Two teenage youths, one only 13 years old, were arrested this week by Newton police in connection with two attempted breaks which occurred within a short time of each other.

James Layden, 17, of 287 Washington street, Newton, was arrested at gunpoint on Washington street allegedly driving a car he had stolen a short time before at a filling

Newton Would Be Hit By MDC Restrictions

Newton householders face strict and rigid restrictions on the use of water for wetting lawns unless a heavy rainfall brings an end to the prolonged drought.

Chairman Charles Greenough of the Metropolitan District Commission is now weighing the possibility of requesting officials of the 26 cities and towns in the MDC water district to invoke emergency regulations covering lawn-watering.

This action looms as likely—barring the possibility of a welcome rainfall—because of the tremendous demands the extended dry spell has made upon the MDC water supply.

Authorities in Newton would be among those requested by Greenough to promulgate special curbs on the sprinkling of lawns if such an action becomes necessary.

A letter has been sent by Greenough to Newton water officials informing them that the increase in the consumption of water has been so great that a critical situation already has been created.

Greenough has appealed for voluntary reductions in the use of water in Newton and elsewhere. Emergency regulations with the force of law behind them, however, can only be issued by local authorities in Newton and the other 25 cities and towns.

Present indications are that it will be necessary to issue such rules by the weekend unless rain brings an end to the drought and furnishes a natural watering for bone dry lawns.

Any emergency restrictions which are sought by Greenough will apply to Newton as well as the other communities in the MDC water district, it was emphasized.

These special regulations can be adopted only after the State Department of Public Health rules that an emergency exists.

Commissioner Greenough explained to The Graphic that a rainfall is needed to replenish the water supply—there is plenty of water in the MDC reservoirs—but to cut down on the consumption of water.

Basbas said that those whose new addresses are known will be sent cards and that they may restore themselves to the voting lists by filling out the cards and returning them to him.

A small percentage of those dropped are women who were married last year and must now re-register under their married names.

A few, of course, have died.

Newton now has 46,351 enrolled voters, a drop of about 3600 below the approximately 50,000 who were eligible to cast ballots in last autumn's elections.

That number in all probability will be increased substantially before next fall's municipal elections.

Despite the fall-off, Newton has approximately 3788 more votes than were registered at this time a year ago. It is considered extremely unlikely, however, that the registration in the next three months will be anywhere nearly as heavy as it

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas reported that more than 3600 persons have been dropped from Newton's voting lists since the State and Presidential elections last November.

Harvard Medical Names 8 Local Doctors To New Faculty Posts

Appointment of no less than eight Newton residents to important posts in the faculty of medicine at Harvard University was announced this week.

Heading the list of Newton residents are Dr. Leroy Vandam, 11 Holly road, Waban, an anesthesiologist. He has been named a clinical professor. He is chief of anesthesiology in the department of surgery Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Others include Dr. Paul M. Zol, 261 Brookline street, Newton Centre, and Dr. Harry Shwachman, 130 Lake avenue, Newton Centre, named associate clinical professors of medicine and pediatrics respectively; Dr. Jerome Gross, 77 Dorset road, Waban, named assistant professor of medicine; Dr. Fred N. Snell, 169 Spiers road, Newton Centre, named assistant professor of biochemistry; Dr. W. Ilam Berenberg, 50 Beresford road, Chestnut Hill, named assistant clinical professor of pediatrics; Dr. John V. Blasi, 525 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, named assistant clinical professor of operative dentistry; and Dr. Christopher J. Duncan, 170 Windsor road, Waban, named assistant clinical professor of gynecology.

He's one of the top telephone salesmen of the nation—an authority on the subject of selling by telephone. He has lectured extensively in this country and Canada on his favorite subject—selling by telephone. He has written many articles on the matter.

Salesmen and those who would like to be salesmen through his lectures. They get a great kick out of it and many of them become pretty good in their own right after catching a lecture or two.

He has a successful gimmick to explain his methods. It wows them. The gimmick calls for three "live prospects" whom he contacts one after the other right from the lecture room. The prospects are entirely unaware that they are being the subject of a demonstration.

Richard gives them his sales pitch right in front of his lecture audience. Usually he sells the subject. As he talks notebooks are filled up with notes on how he does it.

The 2½ million volume of his business for this year's first half doesn't include group or pension business he has written. Nor does it include business placed with companies other than New York Life.

He's married to the former Roberta Weisman of Newton. The couple have four children Rusty, Dusty, Jill and Jan.

from the New York University College of Medicine in 1938. He joined the Faculty of Medicine at Harvard in 1954 and the same year became a member of the staff at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. Prior to this he had been a Fellow in surgery at John Hopkins Medical School

Gov. Furcolo Can Blame Self for Aiding Sales Tax Defeat

If the defeat of the sales tax was the "tragic disaster" for the people of Massachusetts that Governor Furcolo aims it was, it's too bad that he didn't submit a bill to the Legislature that would have had a little better chance passage.

Two things can be said for Furcolo in the sales tax he waged for almost six full months.

1. He tried hard and battled all the way down to the

2. He came much closer to achieving the adoption of the measure than anybody believed he would when he ended his drive last winter.

The fact is that Furcolo came so close to victory that it now seems apparent that he could have attained it by making some minor revisions in his bill and by following a different strategy at times in his attempts to obtain its adoption.

Governor Furcolo and his lieutenants have two main complaints in looking back over the sales tax conflict.

Newton Girl Hears From President

Local Explorer Scouts Visit Old Gold Mine

By Herbert McKinney

Miss Judith Wingate of Newton, a student at Jackson College and during the summer vacation a waitress at Quisana, a camp on Kezar Lake in Maine, rates an A in public relations for her employer.

Together with another student waitress, she sent a letter to President Eisenhower inviting him to the lakeside resort in Maine where both are employed. It was at the time news stories reported the President was considering coming to New England for a vacation stay—perhaps at Cape Cod.

It was later announced that the President will vacation at Newport, R. I.—but the President acknowledged the invitation from the girls.

A letter signed by Bernard M. Shanley, secretary to President Eisenhower, stated the President "hoped" to spend a vacation at Newport, but he added, "The President is grateful, nonetheless, for your kind thought in writing him as you did."

James Bussey of 135 Chapel street, Newton, was a recent visitor to Ausable Chasm during a trip which took him through upper New York State.

Charles Gilman of 135 Langdon street telephoned police that between 5 and 6 in the morning someone stole 15 doughnuts from his doorway. He declared this had happened frequently and requested that the officer in that area keep an eye on the doorway and the doughnuts.

Joseph Winkler of 18 Dorr road put a wrought iron chair with a birch back and leatherette seat on his porch. When he went out to sit down and get a breath of any cooling air there might be, the chair had been stolen.

The only thing of a suspicious nature was that a boy was curled up asleep in the automobile. When officers woke him, he informed them between yawns that he was just sleeping in the car because of the heat.

Louis Sigel of 24 Lantern lane put his water sprinkler on his rear lawn to give the parched grass a much-needed wetting, and someone stole the sprinkler which cost $17.

Political Overtones

One was that he didn't receive the help he expected from business and industry. The other was that the measure didn't get the support that was anticipated from Republican legislators. Furcolo himself is at least partly to blame on each count.

When he announced last January that he would seek a sales tax, the Governor declared that one of the paramount reasons for doing so was to improve the industrial climate in Massachusetts, to encourage new industry to come here and by so doing create more jobs and make the State more prosperous.

Subsequently, when Furcolo made public his sales tax bill, which was copied from the Connecticut law, Kurtz M. Hanson, president of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts and the spokesman for industry in the State, pointed out that one phase of the bill providing for a tax on machinery would prevent the realization of the very objectives Furcolo said he hoped to achieve.

In several different statements Hanson announced that he would support the bill if the machinery tax were eliminated from it. The spokesman for industry repeatedly that the machinery tax would darken the industrial climate, would discourage new industries from coming here and would be a deterrent to industrial expansion.

Furcolo paid no attention to those statements even when he was preparing his second and third sales tax messages and even when it must have been evident to him that he was not going to get very enthusiastic support from industry for a bill which the top spokesman for industry asserted would be harmful rather than beneficial to the so-called industrial climate.

If this writer were forced to choose between Furcolo's statement that the sales tax bill would help industry in Massachusetts and Hanson's statement that the measure, as devised, would hurt industry, we would feel impelled to accept the appraisal of the spokesman for industry.

It must be obvious to any objective onlooker that if Hanson believed that the sales tax bill would have done the things Furcolo claimed it would do, the A.I.M. president would have been out appealing fervently for its adoption.

Instead, Hanson waited for Furcolo to make the revision in the bill that would have made the measure acceptable to industry. That change never was written into the measure. It isn't surprising that Furcolo didn't get energetic backing from business and industry. What is surprising in view of all the circumstances is that he expected any.

On Furcolo's second complaint that he didn't get non-partisan Republican support for the sales tax bill, it is only fair to point out that Mr. Furcolo himself hasn't been exactly a non-partisan Governor.

He offended many Republican legislators in the very first speech he made as Governor when, instead of delivering an inaugural address in the accepted sense of the word, he leveled what amounted to an assault upon former Governor Christian A. Herter and lamented about the "financial mess" he claimed he had inherited.

Despite that thinly veiled attack at Herter, when Furcolo first announced that he would recommend a sales tax, ex-Governor Herter publicly applauded him for doing so and agreed with Furcolo that a sales tax was needed.

Executive Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., son of the former Governor, who must have resented Furcolo's attack upon his father, also endorsed Furcolo's proposal for a sales tax. In fact, the younger Herter wrote an article telling why he favored a sales tax, and debating the issue with Democratic State Senator Leader John E. Powers who was opposing the basic principle of a sales tax. It was published in a number of newspapers.

Furcolo had a good deal of non-partisan Republican support when he first announced himself for a sales tax. Some of that support fell away, however, when he disclosed the specific details of his bill and when members of the G.O.P. heard what business leaders such as A.I.M. President Hanson had to say about the measure.

A good many Republicans, who favored the basic principle of the sales tax and were in agreement with Furcolo at the start, were unwilling to accept the specific bill he presented. The Governor, presumably believing he was eventually going to win his fight, made no real effort to compromise and meet them half way.

It is rather ironic that persons close to Governor Furcolo should be critical of the Republicans for not giving greater support to the sales tax but say nothing about Senator Powers and AFL Legislative Agent Kenneth J. Kelly who fought the bill so violently.

If any two men in Massachusetts were to be singled out as more responsible than anyone else for the defeat of the sales tax, they would be Powers and Kelly. They battled the proposal every step of the way. They toured the State speaking against it.

Those who didn't want a sales tax can't principally thank Powers and Kelly that they're not going to get it this year at least. Those who wanted a sales tax can blame Powers and Kelly because they're not going to have one.

There was no attempt by the Republican leadership to whip the GOP legislators into line either for or against the sales tax. The Republican law-makers were free to make up their minds as to how they would vote on the matter.

You could cite a number of reasons for the rejection of the measure. 1. The bill itself appeared to be a poorly conceived one. 2. The fight for its passage was waged at times in a very inept manner. 3. The Republican legislators were affronted by Governor Furcolo before the legislative session even began.

But the overpowering reason for the defeat of the bill was that a majority of the legislators of Beacon Hill, numbering both Democrats and Republicans, felt that the people of their districts — the citizens they represent in the State government — don't want a sales tax.

If they were wrong, they'll have to answer to the voters for it when they stand for reelection a year from next fall, for you may be sure the sales tax will be the big issue in a good many campaigns waged across the State for legislative seats in the autumn of 1958.

Incidentally, some property owners are under the impression that they would have received a reduction in their real estate tax bills for this year if the sales tax had been passed. That is completely wrong. The sales tax would have no effect upon the 1957 real estate tax bills.

DEATHS

Mrs. A. Chalmers, Church Leader, Dies In England

Mrs. Allan Knight Chalmers, 56, of 85 Atwood street, Newton, well-known as a leader in women's church organizations here, died Sunday, July 21, of a cerebral hemorrhage in England. At the time of her death she was completing a vacation tour of Europe with her husband, Dr. Allan Knight Chalmers, professor of preaching and applied Christianity at Boston University School of Theology, who was on sabbatical leave for a year.

An active church worker for many years, Mrs. Chalmers was a past president of the Massachusetts United Council of Church Women. She was affiliated also with the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and had been a member of the national staff of the Y.W.C.A. A member of the National Committee for Social Studies of the Congregational Church, she had also done extensive work with interfaith groups in New England and New York.

The former Miss Frances Kinghorn, she was born in Providence, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kinghorn. Married in 1922 to Dr. Chalmers, she was graduated two years later from Wellesley College. Dr. and Mrs. Chalmers moved to Newton nine years ago, after residing for many years in New York City where he was pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle of the Congregational Church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Chalmers is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Gustav Todrank of Waterville, Maine; and by two granddaughters.

The body is being returned to this country for burial services, to be announced at a later date.

Miss Julia E. Ross

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow (Friday) at the Newton Cemetery Chapel, 791 Walnut street, Newton Center, for Miss Julia Eliza Ross, better known as Lida J. Ross who died Monday in Vineyard Haven at the age of 91.

Miss Ross, who resided for many years in Newton, was stricken with infantile paralysis at the age of 12 and spent the last 79 years of her life in a wheelchair. Back in the 1890's she was widely known for her China painting. She was an active member of the Universalist Church.

Her father, the late Henry Ross, was the first superintendent of the Newton Cemetery and laid out the cemetery where funeral services are to be held for his daughter and where she is to be buried.

Miss Ross died at a rest home in Vineyard Haven after a long illness.

Edward A. Bove

Funeral services were held yesterday (Wednesday) for Edward A. Bove, 27, former Newton athlete, who was killed in an accident in Dorchester when his automobile hit a pole on Neponset avenue, near Tolman street, while he and his wife and daughter were returning from a trip to Nantasket.

A solemn requiem mass was celebrated at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. Services were from the Valente Funeral Home, 697 Washington street. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Bove had been well known here, having lived at 36 Cook street most of his life until moving to Dorchester a few years ago. He was a member of Company F, 101st Infantry, Massachusetts National Guard, and had been well known as a pitcher for the Newton Italian-American Club and a twelfth football player for the Yanks. He also had been active in amateur boxing, wrestling and weight lifting.

In addition to his wife and daughter, he leaves his father, Achille Bove of 36 Cook street, and three brothers, George H.

Leonard and Robert of the same address, and two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Travers of Watertown and Mrs. Lillian Markiewich of Woburn.

Mrs. Bove suffered severe head injuries in the automobile accident, but is now reported on the road to recovery. Their daughter, Karen, 3, suffered shock and head injuries.

ROSS: in Vineyard Haven July 22, Julia Eliza, better known as Lida J. Ross, formerly of Newton, Mass., aged 91 years. Funeral services will take place Friday, July 26, at 1:30 p.m. at the Newton Cemetery Chapel, 791 Walnut street, Newton Center. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

Finishes Course In Signal Corps

Second Lieutenant Nathan S. George S. Wise of 105 Hyde Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. street, Newton Highlands, has completed the Signal Corps Officers Basic Course at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, according to announcement this week from headquarters there.

The 22-year-old local officer, a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was sent to the Signal School to receive basic training in the duties and responsibilities of Company Grade Officers, prior to joining a field unit. The ten-weeks course includes both field training and technical subjects.

Scout Oath-

way of the Suez Canal to Australia, where they will land in December.

On Tuesday morning there was an exhibition of stunt flying put on by the famous "Thunderbirds" of the U.S. Air Force. One plane flew solo and four planes flew in formation. It started at 10 o'clock when a jet plane came out of the sky, breaking the sound barrier just as it seemed located over our campsite. The planes made inside and outside loops, and even flew inverted. A fascinating bit of formation flying occurred when four planes flew straight up, close together, and then fanned out in four different directions. The vapor from the afterburners made the maneuver look exactly like fireworks.

Tuesday night was exchange night: one-half of the 38 Troops in our all New England Section were guests of Texas Troops, and the other half entertained Scout Troops from Texas. We were supposed to be hosts, but through some misunderstanding our guests never showed up. We ended up having the campfire alone.

Wednesday we went to Philadelphia, travelling by train from the Valley Forge station to the Reading Terminal. It was a hike into history, and we visited Independence Hall, the Betsy Ross House where we saw a replica of the original Old Glory, and Carpenter's Hall. Some of the Scouts visited the offices of the Curtis Publishing Company. It was very interesting, but there were so many boys taking the same trip that we were not able to spend more than five minutes at any one place. We were always being told to "hurry it up" and to "keep it moving", so we didn't have much chance to stop and take photographs.

The closing ceremonies in the big arena took place on Thursday night. Right after dinner we began our march to the man-made amphitheater, picking up other columns of Scouts as we progressed. It's quite a sight to see an almost endless column of Scouts on parade, but it didn't look as good as on opening night because it was so very dusty.

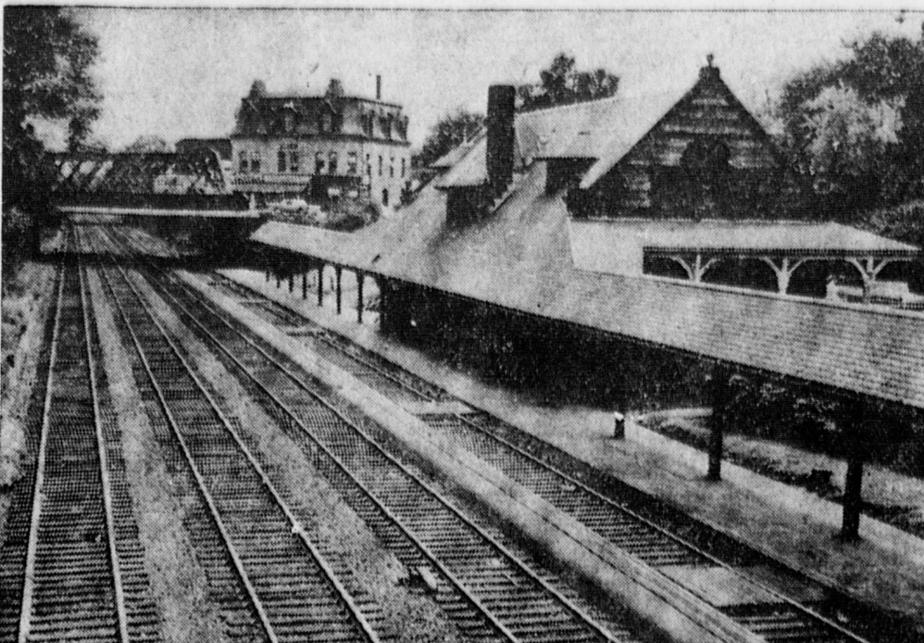

Soon after we were seated in the arena, the Region II band came out on the football-field-sized stage for a concert. They were followed by the Racine, Wisconsin, Drum and Bugle Corps, who were so good they almost stopped the show. There were other entertainments by Scout amateurs, including a Dutch wooden shoe dance, and a demonstration with bull whips put on by the boys from Oklahoma. We were also greeted briefly by Kenneth Bechtel, President of the Boy Scouts of America.

There was then presented a tableau, a giant tableau depicting the growth of Scouting from the day of Baden-Powell's first camping trip which occurred some 50 years ago, up to the very present. The tableau was done in campfire fashion, and included a short talk by Arthur Schuck, the Chief Scout Executive.

The close of the evening was the most memorable. It began with the candlelight ceremony. At a signal, each Scout lit his own personal candle, and the arena glowed with some 53,000 flames. Then over the loudspeaker came the voice of an Eagle Scout speaking from the South Pole, who led us in the Scout Oath. Then at another signal, all of the lights were put out, and we placed the candles in the left pockets of our shirts, right over our hearts. The bugler then played Retreat as the huge flag behind the backdrop was lowered. The Jamboree was officially over.

Friday was a free day for us, so there had been scheduled a second trip to Philadelphia, this time to the Navy Yard, the Franklin Institute, and the Planetarium. It was a most interesting trip, and we could have enjoyed it more if we had not been so tired. On our return to Valley Forge that evening, we were surprised to see how much of the Jamboree had already packed up and left. We were told that about 25,000 Scouts and all of their gear moved out in that one day, and I can believe it because the place certainly looked empty.

Saturday, July 20th, our Troop left the Jamboree, going by train to Boston. We had a wonderful experience.

DESERTED AND ABANDONED, this Newt on Corner railroad station, once one of the busiest on the Boston & Albany line, has been closed down as an economy move.

THE WHEEL OF PROGRESS CONTINUES

EVERYWHERE we look in our community we see the signs of progress that foretell a happy and prosperous future for all: New industries creating new jobs; new homes bringing new neighbors; improved highways to speed the flow of commerce and recreation; new shopping centers to keep pace with a growing population; and, of particular concern to us, the opportunity of making and serving new friends as we have been doing for years. Because we feel that Newton-Waltham Bank is inseparable from the life of the community, we take special care to offer almost every conceivable type of metropolitan banking service on a neighbor-to-neighbor basis through our conveniently located neighborhood offices. Come into your nearby office today. We're always glad to see and serve you.

was our one opportunity to put a sales tax across," Rawson asserted.

"Governor Herter twice said he would sign a sales tax bill if it should be presented to him. He knew that he could not obtain one by asking for it. Had he done so, the Democrats would have killed it."

"With the Democrats divided over a Democratic Governor's request for a sales tax, Republican votes could have passed it had enough voted for it," Rawson continued.

"Wherever a sales tax has been enacted, it has produced

it has made the public so governmental economy because thoroughly tax-conscious that they have driven out of office those whose philosophy is 'spend and spend and tax and tax and elect and elect.' That has been the story in Ohio and Connecticut, and that is what would happen here."

"Of course," Rawson asserted, "this bill was not perfect. Representative J. Robert Ayers of Weston had a better bill which would have exempted machinery used in manufacturing as a help to industry and which made much larger exemptions in taxes on both earned and unearned income. We declared that 'it is my considered conviction that in voting for the Governor's limited sales tax bill last week, that vote was cast in the public interest, as my limited intelligence indicated to me.'

"Real estate taxes, the chief Rawson concluded.

source of municipal revenue, have become almost confisatory," Rawson asserted. "They are a millstone around the neck of the home-owner and the rent-payer who have the landlord's taxes to pay and a serious obstacle to business and industry which alone can employ our people."

"Every city and town would have received a grant for local tax reduction. Newton's alone being $5 on the tax rate."

"The $10 per $1000 which Boston was due to receive would have been a tremendous help. There is no doubt that Boston is headed for economic collapse unless heroic measures are taken, witness the closing of three outstanding stores recently."

"Whatever our personal opinions or political beliefs, we cannot afford to see Boston collapse, for that might easily endanger the credit of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts."

clared that "it is my considered

The first birthday of the Civic Room of New England Advertising, Inc., at the firm's headquarters at Lincoln and Walnut streets, Newton Highlands, was marked by a visit of Red Auerbach, coach of the world champion Boston Celtics basketball team. He was presented with a diamond-studded gold pen.

Appreciating the need for meeting facilities in the community President Murray E. Sholkin of NEA included the Civic Room in his plans for the firm's offices. Keys for its use on a free-to-all basis from 4 p.m. to midnight seven days a week were turned over to Mrs. Judith Copeland of the Newton Community Council.

Approximately 100 organizations used the room's facilities during its first year. During business hours NEA holds its sales meetings in the Civic Room.

6-Month Totals Show Newton Home-Building Ahead of '56

By WALTER A. HOOD

Treasurer, Newton Co-operative Bank

Complete figures for the first six months of 1957 based on the June totals to be released this week by the Division of Statistics, Department of Labor and Industries will show Newton as one of the few municipalities in Massachusetts ahead of the 1956 pace in new housing starts. The total valuation of new home construction to date this year is $1,754,600 compared with $1,535,000 for the first 6 months of 1956. Additions, alterations and repairs to all types of structures amounted to $678,330 against $673,265 for the corresponding period a year ago. The only area in which the 1957 totals are overshadowed by the records of 1956 is in the matter of transfers where the 6-month tabulations show 497 for the 1957 period compared with 683 for the comparable period in 1956.

Mortgage Rates Vary

New Englanders can be content in one respect during the current "tight money" market. The average lending rate for conventional mortgage loans in this area is the lowest in the entire nation, as much as 1% below the Pacific States average. Of the ten areas surveyed through June 1957, New England was the only area showing an average rate below 5 1/2%.

House Prices*Remain Firm

The National Association of Real Estate Boards, in their 63rd semi-annual survey of the real estate market predicts that prices of modern houses which includes those built since 1940 as well as older homes will hold close to their present level, presumably through the next six months and the foreseeable future. They credit land scarcity, rising costs and more rigid financing as lending factors in keeping up the prices of older homes.

Butter Twins Win Crown In Doubles; Sue Brooks Of Brookline Is Singles Victor

Without the loss of a single set, displaying power and strategy, to burn—the Butter twins, Michael and Stephen walked away with the tennis doubles championship of the Newton High summer school.

They defeated sophomores Danny Gorman and Harold Paul 6-2 and 6-1 in the finals.

Sue Brooks, Brookline H. S. sophomore won an easy final victory in girls' singles defeating fellow townsmen Susan Kelz who had entered the finals without lifting her racquet as a result of two default victories. Miss Brooks won 6-0, 6-0 after a hard three-set semi-finals match against Polly Gorman of Newton.

In the men's singles, the Butter brothers' meet in the finals to be played at Longwood this week.

St. John's Church
Plans Fiesta

Village Fair "Fiesta" will be the theme of the annual parish fair at St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 4 and 5.

Plans call for the most colorful fair ever, which partly explains the fact they are being launched so early.

There will be a greatly enlarged midway with attractions for oldsters as well as children. Hundreds of items, including housewares and gifts will be offered.

The fair committee is headed by George H. Ferren, chairman. His assistants include Justus Allen, W. Scott Brent, Mrs. Walter Chase, Mrs. Eaton Webber, Mrs. Wilbur Kingwill and Mrs. Leigh Packner.

These parish members will operate the various tables: aprons, Mrs. Minnie Clark and Mrs. Miller Ferguson; baby needs, Mrs. Harold Jewett; white elephant, Mrs. Harold Rice and Mrs. Stanley Benson; gifts, Mrs. George Ferran and Mrs. L. Veneit; country store, Douglas Grainger.

The post office will be operated by Polly Ferran; food will be in charge of Mrs. W. Baker; cards and stationery, Mrs. George Briggs; grabs, Mrs. Richard Reynolds; plants, Mrs. Harold Martin and Mrs. Riley Hampton; candy, Mrs. Robert Burkhardt and Mrs. William McBurney; dolls and toys, Mrs. Jean Young.

Other assignments include midway, Leigh Parker; publicity Mrs. George Hicks; merchandise, Mrs. B. Colcock; display, Clyde Hicks; decorations, Mrs. Sally MacMahon and Mrs. Robert Irwin.

An added attraction this year will be a minstrel show under direction of Miss Mabel Chase.

The Friday and Saturday luncheons will be in charge of Mrs. W. C. Fay; Friday night dinner, Mrs. Raymond Church and Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Saturday night supper, Miss Emily Burden.

The Rev. Wilbur Kingwill, rector of St. John's, and Miss Eleanor Bartlett, chairman of the Church Service League, are sponsoring the fair together with Miss Florence Moore and T. Arnold Joyce, co-treasurers.

Newton police are seeking a 39-year-old Boston man for questioning in connection with the theft of $150 from a Chestnut Hill home.

A warrant for the arrest of Alfred H. Lewis of Boston's South End was issued in Newton district court after a letter carrier, on examining pictures, identified Lewis as the man he saw leaving the home of Mrs. Syd Danziger at 126 Algonquin road, Chestnut Hill.

The mail man declared that Lewis ran across a lawn and jumped a fence leading to the Chestnut Hill Country Club when he saw he was being observed.

Mrs. Danziger was upstairs on the second floor of her home when a thief got away with $150.

Newton Men At Athol Dedication

Among the Newton residents attending the dedication of the $50,000 dining hall and craft workshop at the Morgan Memorial's fresh air camp at South Athol were Hollis J. Wyman, Robert J. Straley, Raymond S. Carman, Warren H. Thompson, Alden H. Cooley and Thomas J. Brown.

Summer Social Workers

Two Newton college girls are spending worthwhile summer weeks doing social service work. Miss Rosaline Horne, 814 Chestnut street, Waban, student at Smith College is working at New England Home for Little Wanderers, and Miss Roberta Milender of 15 Hobart road, Newton Centre, a Radcliffe under-grad, is in the social service department of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Rotarians Hear Deputy Powers

Deputy Commissioner Edwin Powers of the State Department of Correction told members of the Newton Rotary Club at a recent meeting that his department is not coddling or being sentimental toward prisoners in the State's penal institutions.

Pointing out that a vast majority of those now in prisons will be released at some time, Powers told his audience that every effort should be made to make them honest citizens when they return to society.

His subject was "What shall we do with our prisoners?"

He said that it was the function of the Department of Correction to protect society against criminals. Two means were available, he said; custody of prisoners and through education, prison reform.

Bobby Gass and Parents Visitors to Disneyland

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Gass of 120 Lake Avenue, Newton, shared with their son Bobby, aged 9, the thrills of Disneyland recently on their trip to the West Coast. They stopped at Disneyland Hotel and Mr. and Mrs. Gass frankly admitted they got quite as much a thrill out of the wonders of Disneyland as Bobby who was just enthralled.

Traffic officials in Rochester, N.Y., haven't yet decided what to do about a complaint by Mrs. Verone White that cars parked near her home reflect the sun into her parakeet's eyes. We wonder if they've thought of asking Mrs. White to move her parakeet.

Seek Plan For Use Of School Site

A committee of business and civic leaders to assist in determining the most advantageous use of the sites of the Mason and Rice Schools has been appointed by the Newton Chamber of Commerce and endorsed by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., Dwight Colburn, president of the Chamber announced today.

Murray E. Sholkin was named chairman of the Mason-Rice Evaluation Council and Earl P. Stevenson, vice-chairman.

Other members of the council, in addition to President Colburn, are Carl Alvord, Albert M. Kreider, Lorenz Muther, executive secretary of the Chamber; J. N. Manning, Jr., vice president of the Newton Centre Improvement Association; Bernard Roberts, and Al Roquette, president of the Newton Centre Businessmen's Association.

Mr. Colburn pointed out that the committee comprises men of divergent backgrounds and experience, and is a true cross section of interests in the disposition of the properties as it may affect the city as a whole.

Suggestions will be welcomed from any civic group of citizens, Sholkin said. Constructive suggestions in writing may be submitted to the Chamber of Commerce at 1171 Washington street, West Newton.

Three Skidding Accidents Here

It didn't rain much in Newton this week, but it did rain enough to make the streets slippery and cause three different skidding accidents.

Two boys were thrown out of their automobile when it skidded into the lawn at 414 Chestnut street in West Newton. They were Paul J. Isenman, 16, of 36 Byfield road, Waban, who was driving the car, and Marc L. Kauffmann, 18, of Cranston, R. I. Both were taken to the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, where Isenman was treated for head injuries and Kauffmann for injuries to his left shoulder.

John LeFauve, 16, of 35 Hinnewell avenue, Newton, suffered injuries to his left shoulder when the car in which he was riding with Paul D. McBride, 14, of 42 Hollis street, Newton, skidded onto a lawn on Franklin street.

A Needham man, Otto R. Sukowski, suffered injuries to his head and face when his automobile skidded into a utility pole on Winchester street, near Nahanton street.

TELEVIEWING THE NEWS
By LEE LOUMOS

Television played a big role in the 1956 elections. Now the tables are turned, and the debate goes on. The 85th Congress includes several TV problems. Here are some of the questions being studied:

(1) Should the FCC authorize subscription-television? There's a lot of favorable public response to the idea, and it's possible that toll-TV will be given a trial period before long.

(2) Are advertisers on TV staying within the law? Or are new restrictions on length, frequency, volume and content too commercial? The FTC is using a new monitoring unit that will film and tape-record commercials for investigation.

(3) How can UHF be encouraged? Since 1948, FCC has found that 12 VHF channels can't meet the demands of a growing TV industry; but effective use of the higher channels has opened up new possibilities for cooperation on the part of manufacturers, stations, sponsors and consumers . . . with nobody willing to pay the first "jump." Proposals under consideration so far have included the shifting of all TV to UHF, eliminating the VHF channels altogether, and removal of the existing excise tax and sales of all-channel (UHF-VHF) sets.

Yes, in the midst of all its other responsibilities, Congress will treat television as a serious business . . . because there is scarcely anything else of such common interest to the public. We have a common interest with our customers . . . and that is to strive for the best in television. That's what you want . . . it's what we can furnish . . . when you call on us to help you select your new set, or for "like-new" service and repairs on your present set.
